Cambodian Gunboats Backing Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP)—The defence ministry charged today that Cambodian troops and gunboats supported Viet Cong guerrillas in two attacks on South Vietnamese units near the Cambodian border Monday.

A patrol moving within 100 yards of the border in Chau Doc province was hit by Communist guerrillas supported by 100 Cambodian soldiers, the ministry charged.

Mortar fire hit a government patrol from across the border, killing three soldiers and wounding one, the ministry said. The Viet Cong and Cambodians withdrew after 20 minutes when Vietnamese reinforcements arrived, the ministry added.

Two hours later four Cambodian patrol boats moved up a canal and blasted an outpost in the area, killing one Vietnamese soldier, the ministry said.

On the political front, a source close to South Viet Nam's Buddhist leadership said Buddhists might turn again to suicide by fire in their campaign to overthrow Premier Tran Van Huong's government.

Huong has crushed Buddhist demonstrations against his government with force, and a number of devout Buddhists are disgusted with the political machinations of their leaders.

China broadcast today it would fight in the event of "U.S. imperialist aggression" against Communist North Viet Nam. It was believed the first time the Chinese have used the word "fight" in referring to talk of American bombing of targets in North Viet Nam.

LBJ Orders Urgent Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today instructed Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor to "consult urgently" with the South Vietnamese government concerning measures to improve the situation there "in all its aspects."

A statement announcing this was issued by the White House after a 2½-hour meeting on the Viet Nam problem involving the president, Taylor and top administration officials.

Whale Love Match Fails As Titch Breathes Last

MAELTON, England (AP)—Titch, the first whale to fly the Atlantic, has died. "We can't really say what caused her death," said Zoo Superintendent Ian Gibb, "but it seems as if it may have been a virus she had before she flew from Canada." The seven-foot-long, 135-pound baby beluga whale, was originally abandoned by its mother on the banks of the St. Lawrence river in Canada. Fishermen discovered the young whale and turned it over to the Quebec Zoo.

The Flamingo Zoo near here heard about the abandoned whale and asked for it.

Packed in ice and foam rubber, Titch was flown from Canada to Britain by an Air France jet early last month.

Two weeks ago the whale became ill. During the illness, she was fed a special diet of oysters and mussels.

Zoo officials here had planned to introduce Titch to Flipper, the sole occupant of the zoo's whale tank. Titch never met Flipper, however. She was too ill.

SPACE RACE

Russian Mars Shot Falter

(Times News Services) The Russians were back in the race to Mars with a new deep-space probe today but it appeared to be a partial failure.

Its power supply was working at only half-strength.

U.S. spacecraft Mariner IV sped at 7,226 miles an hour today toward Mars—two days ahead of the Russian rival in history's first interplanetary race.

Mariner is due on the outskirts of Mars July 14.

Somewhere behind it is the Zond II craft the Russians fired Monday.

Tass news agency said data showed Zond had only half its expected power supply.

There was no information immediately available on whether Zond had sufficient reserves to carry on with its program.

Tass also said Zond was close to its planned course but it did not appear to be directed at the planet Mars itself.

At noon EST Monday Zond, launched two days behind Mariner IV, was 25,000 miles from earth above a point 156 degrees, nine minutes east and 12 degrees, 50 minutes north, Tass said.

Zond appeared to have started its journey aboard a multi-stage rocket which placed a heavy satellite in an intermediate orbit around the earth. Tass said a "cosmic rocket" was then launched from the satellite, accelerating the automatic spacecraft to the speed necessary to put it in a Mars trajectory.

It was not immediately known whether the Russians would make an attempt to "lock" Zond on a star. The U.S. probe was "locked" Monday on Canopus for guidance.

Talks Avert UN Showdown

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations announced today agreement had been reached on a formula to avert a U.S.-Soviet showdown in the General Assembly to peace-keeping assessments.

The announcement came a few minutes after the 112-country assembly had been scheduled to open its 19th session.

It was agreed that the assembly would transact only non-controversial business at the initial meeting. This would include the election of a new president and admission of three new members.

The agreement left hanging what would be done eventually about action to suspend Soviet voting rights in accordance with UN charter provisions dealing with back debts.

Fall Start Possible Next Year

Re-routing a six-block section of the city's proposed $1 million six-lane highway into downtown Victoria was recommended to council today as a 1965 project.

The concept was approved by urban renewal committee in consultation with traffic committee and is based on preliminary drawings prepared by the engineering department.

Major effects of the proposal would be to:

- Eliminate a traffic bottleneck at Rose and Hillside.

- Make an almost "straight through" route between Rose Street extension at Hillside, and Blanshard at Chatham.

- Eliminate the one-way stretch now running between Bay and Queens, allowing this and the portion between Bay and Hillside to handle secondary traffic.

- Permit Blanshard between Chatham and Hillside to handle northbound traffic intending to turn east.

- Eliminate an "island" of residential area between what was to be one-way sections of the artery between Queens and Hillside—area that is earmarked for urban renewal.

- Provide for a clean division between commercial development along Douglas Street and residential area to the east.

- Permit beautification of a 17-foot divider strip the full length of the route between Tolmie and Pandora.

- Eliminate the necessity of cutting through Greater Victoria School Board property at Rose and Hillside.

COST $900,000

Current estimated cost is over $900,000, or about $33,000 more than the course proposed. The committee agreed this new plan would provide more lasting benefits.

Under capital budget and urban renewal financing about $1,000,000 is available to pay for the route, city manager Dennis Young told the Committee.

FALL START

He said with policy established now, planning can proceed, and physical work could begin next fall.

The full six lanes need not be developed immediately, but a 110-foot right of way would be secured anyway to allow for pressure of future traffic.

It is contemplated that overpasses would be built at Finlayson and Tolmie, depending on the future development of the route in Saanich.

"Regardless of what the regional traffic plan (being prepared by the provincial government) indicates, our experience shows that we need this improved highway," Mr. Young said.

WEST WAS WARNED today by allied supreme commander Gen. Lymann L. Lemnitzer, it would be "the height of folly" to relax its military effort as a result of "complacency." Speaking before the Western European Union in Paris, Lemnitzer said it is "disturbing" that some Atlantic alliance members are failing to meet their force goals. He was presumed to be speaking about Britain's under-strength Rhine army.

Mercenaries Rescue 160

More Hostages

LEOPOLDVILLE—White mercenaries have rescued from 155 to 160 rebel-held hostages in a cotton-growing region about 180 miles north of Stanleyville, a Belgian embassy spokesman said today. Most of them were Belgians.

The report came as rebels fought back in Stanleyville, the fallen insurgent capital seized a week ago. The airport was closed and most of the city was reported in rebel hands.

The hostages were freed at Dindila and Bambili in the northeastern Congo. Reports said fleeing rebels had taken two hostages northward.

Bambili and Dindila are in a cotton-growing region about 110 miles northeast of Buta, the mercenaries' operational base.

ABOUT 250 STILL HELD

The embassy spokesman said the rescue reduced the number of Belgians still trapped by rebels to about 250, although previous reports had said 500 to 1,000 whites remained after the Belgian paratrooper rescue mission ended last week.

Most of those still held as hostages were said to be Belgians and were believed to be in Kasai, a town near the Sudanese border. About 80 other Belgians are scattered in isolated settlements, the official said.

The Canadian embassy in Leopoldville has listed eight Canadians still unaccounted for in the Congo.

Other messages reaching Leopoldville spoke of the deterioration of the situation at Kindu, a rebel centre captured by the mercenaries at the beginning of their drive on Stanleyville.

CHRISTMAS DAY is just another day in these children's struggle to survive.

FOLKESTONE, Eng. (AP)—Beulah Benton, who stands four feet, 10 inches in her nylons, won court permission Monday to marry six-foot-two suitor, Tony Fagg.

Beulah is 19, Tony 22. Her mother objected to the match because of the difference in height. The girl went to the Folkestone magistrate's court, since a magistrate's permission is necessary for persons under 21 to marry without parental consent.

"There are no snags at all in being different sizes," Beulah told the court. The magistrates agreed and gave the couple their blessing.

Beulah's mother, Mrs. Mary Mullen, said she would be at the wedding smiling.

Mrs. Mullen, no giant herself at five feet, explained: "Beulah was always teased at school because she was so small and I didn't want her to be teased again."

KINGSTON, Ont.—Sir Tyrone Guthrie gave it to them straight Monday night.

"Don't send your brains to Shakespearean plays in the hope that you will pick up something," the noted director told a special convocation at Queen's University here.

"You don't get an appreciation of the Bard by osmosis. And don't be a hypocrite. If you don't like Shakespeare, stay at home."

COPENHAGEN—A Danish army private who sent a solid extract of Henry Miller's Tropic of Cancer in code over a Danish radio linked to NATO's radio network was sentenced to 20 days in the guardhouse here.

His literary contribution to NATO was made during a recent Danish army exercise. The private was operating a powerful transmitter and started to send Tropic of Cancer when his supply of orders and instructions ran out. He said he sent it to keep the line "alive."

The soldier, 20, said he had just taken the first book at hand and had not deliberately selected Tropic of Cancer. He said he was not aware that everything sent by him went directly into NATO's network.

The court ordered the man's name not to be published.

LONDON—Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who has been accused of being a sloppy dresser, has rejected an offer by London tailors to advise him how to dress.

Tailor and Cutter, the magazine of Britain's tailoring and clothing trade, said: "An approach has been made to Mr. Harold Wilson by the men's fashion council, putting at his disposal the advice and guidance of the council on matters of style; in fact, to act for the prime minister in the capacity of dress consultants."

"The approach has been answered with a polite and charming letter thanking the council, but saying that Mr. Wilson did not feel he could take up their kind offer."

Shortly after he became prime minister, a photograph was published of Wilson in his Sunday lounging clothes—a pair of sloppy grey flannel trousers and an unpressed sports jacket. Tailor and Cutter said the trousers were too baggy and the jacket out of style.

LONDON—A new and healthy cocktail—oxygen and tomato juice—has been invented by a Russian professor of medicine, the Soviet news agency Tass has reported. The man, Professor Nikolai Sirotnin, said the cocktail is particularly suited as a tonic for those who suffer from liver diseases because oxygen is absorbed directly into the blood.

ROTHESAY, Scotland—Bride-to-be Janice McLachlan says she is scorned a bad luck tag to claim a wedding dowry set up 67 years ago by the late 3rd Marquess of Bute.

"People can say what they like. I am applying for the dowry," said Janice, a 17-year-old Rothsay millworker who will be married Dec. 26 to unemployed farm worker James Sutherland, 21. "Some girls say they would not apply for it because it brings bad luck. I don't believe that at all."

James McMillan, provost (mayor) of Rothsay on the Scottish island of Bute, will present the dowry—a cash gift of £25 pounds ($350) to Janice after her wedding.

The money comes from the interest of a £1,000 pounds ($2,800) fund set up by the 3rd Marquess of Bute 67 years ago to mark his silver wedding anniversary and diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria. The terms of the fund provide an annual sum which "will enable girls of the poorer classes to be married."

It said the goal of the launching was to test the spacecraft's systems in conditions of prolonged spaceflight and to accumulate practical experience. It did not say whether, like Mariner, Zond was carrying cameras.

The first Russian Mars shot was launched Nov. 1, 1962, but failed to keep its rendezvous with the red planet. However, in March, 1963, the Russians set a record for distance—some 66,000,000 miles—for two-way radio link when they communicated with the probe. It took 12 minutes for a reply to be received.

Six months after the launching it was announced that radio contact with the probe had been lost. At that time the probe was about 122,000,000 miles from earth.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said in Washington the new Russian probe and Mariner could conceivably follow the same type of trajectory. Mariner was launched from Cape Kennedy Saturday.

Cuban Exiles Fight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—About 800 Cuban exiles are fighting rebels in The Congo, informed sources say. "They might be called mercenaries since they receive pay for their services, but actually they are training for forthcoming warfare against Fidel Castro in Cuba," said one exile. Friends said they believe the salary is $300 monthly.

The first Russian Mars probe was called Mars L. Zond I was launched eight months ago, apparently in the direction of Venus, but there was no evidence the first Zond probe was meant to make contact with the planet. A Russian scientist said it was meant to study radiation belts at high altitudes.

The Russians changed the course of Zond I by radio six weeks after launching, when it was about 8,000,000 miles from earth.

Mariner, its speed pre-set, is moving in a perfect position for the next crucial manoeuvre in its 350,000,000-mile flight: a mid-course manoeuvre to refine its trajectory. It probably will come later this week.

The manoeuvre may increase Mariner's speed slightly, enough to cut a few hours on a 229-day journey.

Russian scientists, aware of Mariner's schedule, could rig Zond to pass it, if simple speed is their goal, laboratory experts said.

U.S. scientists were inclined to doubt that Russian scientists fired Zond to pass Mariner as a cold war gambit. The reasoning:

1. This is the optimum period because of the positions of earth and Mars—for such a probe. Zond's following Mariner may be mere coincidence.

2. It takes up to two years to plan a flight like those now being flown by the two unmanned craft. Last-minute changes just aren't made.

Memorial Service Set for Missionary

A special memorial service will be held for Victoria missionary Muriel Harman, killed by Congo rebels last Wednesday.

The service will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 3 in the Church of Our Lord, Blanshard and Humboldt.

The service will be for all who knew her, all who supported her work and all who wish to pay tribute to a wonderful woman," said Bishop D. A. G. Rankin of the reformed Episcopal church.

Miss Harman, a missionary, teacher and nurse in The Congo for more than 30 years, was born in Victoria and graduated from Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The Church of Our Lord was her home church and the missionary society there supported her efforts through the years.

"We invite other churches to join our missionary guild in continuing Muriel's work, particularly her work among the lepers. Their needs have still to be served."

"Muriel has given of herself and her life. All denominations honor her."

Services were held last Sunday for regular parishioners but Bishop Rankin said there was insufficient time between announcement Saturday of Miss Harman's death and the services to properly publicize the memorial.

Noted British Scientist Dies

BHUBANESWAR, India (Reuters)—Professor John Haldane, 72, world famous British geneticist, died today of cancer.

Haldane had been for some years professor at the Orissa State government's genetics and biometry laboratory.

He was rated as the architect of the modern genetics and evolution theory, and regarded as a founder of modern population genetics.

The professor left the British Communist party in 1956 "because of Stalinist interference in science" and migrated to India the following year to take up an official scientific post and later to adopt Indian nationality.

CAPE MAY, N.J. (AP)—Six men were rescued from a 65-foot schooner today after drifting helplessly in rough seas about 60 miles southeast of here for more than 15 hours, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

The men scrambled off the schooner, the Lido Tiki, onto a raft launched by a Coast Guard cutter. From the raft, they were lifted by helicopter and flown to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration facility at Wallops Island, Va.

Orderlies Seek Militant Policy

Nursing orderlies at Veterans' Hospital agreed Monday night to press their national association for "militant policies" to settle their grievances.

A 15-man orderlies committee agreed to present a three-point resolution to a meeting tonight of the local branch of the Department of Veterans Affairs Employees National Association.

The resolution asks the national association to reopen negotiations with the federal government, to take whatever action is needed to see this accomplished and to examine such action as token strikes and work to rule "to back up our just demands."

'BREAKING POINT'

A statement from the orderlies said in part:

"Further, we point out to the public the deplorable conditions with which we have to put up. Very poor wages, frequent work weeks running from 7-10 days, staff shortage and overwork all combine to put pressure on the standard of service received by the veteran and to bring us to the breaking point."

The orderlies are was raised when they found they have been left off the latest list of increases for federal government workers.

Rainfall Increases Water Storage Level

Rainfall in the last three days has added at least five inches of water storage to Goldstream River watershed and a foot to Sooke Lake reservoir.

Greater Victoria water commissioner Ronald Upward said there has been no great concern about water levels, but measurement for this season was down to a marginal point.

With a dry winter in the Sooke Hills, there could be a water shortage next spring.

Runoff results in different storage increments in the two watershed areas because there is more rugged terrain and less catchment of Goldstream.

An inch of precipitation usually means from 12 to 16 inches of increased water depth at Sooke Lake and about five inches at Goldstream, Mr. Upward said.

WHY IS IT THE WORLD'S FINEST BLADE?

Why does the Wilkinson Sword blade give you the most comfortable, the cleanest, and the smoothest shave you ever had and more shaves per blade?

There are many reasons. The main one is "hand-crafted quality". This stems from the great pride that all those at Wilkinson Sword take in their craftsmanship. Wilkinson Sword brings to the task of stainless blade manufacture over 100 years of experience in the delicate sword-maker's art... an art exemplified by the famous Eisenhower and Stalingrad Swords which Wilkinson Sword hand-crafted for these two historical presentations. It is this deep tradition of British craftsmanship that inspires everyone at Wilkinson Sword to bring the same devotion for perfection to the manufacture of stainless razor blades!

LED THE WAY—The Wilkinson Sword stainless blade story starts in 1936 when Wilkinson Sword decided to produce a razor blade. They determined that no other blade would ever equal it. For five years Wilkinson Sword craftsmen laboured at their project. Then in 1961 they introduced the present Wilkinson Sword stainless blade. By word-of-mouth its fame spread. The blade was in such demand that storekeepers made their meagre supply go as far as possible, sometimes selling a blade at a time to their customers. These were the original Wilkinson Sword stainless blade users—the "Men of the Sword". Now they number in the millions.

So the years of far from pleasant shaving are a thing of the past. Today, every major razor blade manufacturer has naturally endeavoured to follow the lead of Wilkinson Sword.

THE DIFFERENCE—There are many stainless blades on the market. But there is still one big difference between Wilkinson Sword and other blades... traditional craftsmanship. The consistently high quality is a result of the most stringent controls and precision manufacturing procedures in the world. For instance, every Wilkinson Sword blade is hardened by heating it to 1,976°F. then this heat is "frozen in" by suddenly chilling the blade to 94°F. below zero. Every blade is polished 16 times, then carefully honed under a constant spray of cold water (it takes up to 1,500 gallons an hour to grind and hone Wilkinson Sword blades). The blade is then meticulously stropped on circular leather wheels made from Swiss oxhide until the cutting edge is smoother, sharper, longer lasting... quite simply the world's finest blade.

SWISS OXHIDE—The reason why Wilkinson Sword, and only Wilkinson Sword, use Swiss oxhide is an interesting story in itself. The Wilkinson Sword people found that due to altitude, climate and heredity, the Swiss ox provides the best leather in the world for stropping. This is a typical example of how Wilkinson Sword strive for perfection. It is this final stropping that adds incredible sharpness to the shaving edge of every Wilkinson Sword stainless blade.

AIR-LIFTED—At the present time, the British Isles, part of Europe, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the U.S.A. and Canada are the only areas of the world being supplied because world demand continues to outstrip production. Even now, to keep pace with fast growing Canadian sales, it is necessary to use K.L.M. Air Cargo to fly Wilkinson Sword blades from England to Canada, every week.

A PLEDGE—These are just a few of the extraordinary lengths to which the British craftsmen at Wilkinson Sword go to produce and supply you with the world's finest blade. A blade so superb that it stands apart from all others. That's why Wilkinson Sword can make and keep this pledge: the tradition of craftsmanship and concern for perfection that produced the world's finest blade and changed the shaving habits of millions of men will always be maintained. That's why the Wilkinson Sword stainless blade gives you the most comfortable, the world's finest shaves. Try it. Join the "Men of the Sword".

AS MPs STRUGGLE THROUGH 200TH SITTING

Flag Debate Like Old Rock-'n-Roll Record

OTTAWA (CP)—Monday was the 200th sitting of the longest session in the Canadian Commons' history and it seemed that the members were debating the flag issue for the 200th time.

Technically, it was the first day of discussion on the single red maple leaf flag recommended Oct. 29 by a special committee, but it sounded like a replay of a year-old rock-'n-roll hit record.

The same arguments that dominated last summer's intermittent debate were restated, but with much less passion and fire this time.

English-speaking Conservatives again argued that the minority Liberal government will split the country if it scraps the Red Ensign and replaces it with a new flag, without first consulting the public through a national plebiscite.

Government supporters replied that MPs are elected to decide public issues. They repeated their contention that a minority in Parliament should not prevent a vote indefinitely.

The only heat of the day was generated in two procedural arguments.

Under House rules, committee reports normally come up for debate before the daily question period and policy announcements by cabinet ministers.

Opposition Leader Diefen-

baker said this order of business should be reversed during the flag debate to give the Opposition the opportunity to question ministers on urgent and important matters.

When Prime Minister Pearson and H. A. Olson (SC—Medicine Hat) opposed this idea, the Conservative chief of staff accused the government of trying to "throttle" free discussion in Parliament and "handcuff" the Opposition.

Mr. Pearson recalled that Conservative MPs made 117 speeches last summer in 22 days of debate on the government's original motion for a three-leaf flag. (There were 32 Liberal speeches and 25 by the three small parties.)

"These are the people who are now throttled and muzzled," he said in a sarcastic reference to the Conservatives.

ARGUMENT RAGES

The procedural argument raged on for more than 30 minutes and then Herman Batten (L—Humber-St. George's), chairman of the 15-member flag committee, moved that the Commons approve the committee's 10-to-4 majority recommendation.

The question period was wiped out and the process could be repeated every day until the flag debate is concluded or adjourned.

The second procedural fight arose over a draft amendment proposed by former health minister J. Waldo Monteith, who was the senior Conservative on the flag committee.

He moved that the report be sent back to the committee with instructions that the committee turn in a new report urging a flag plebiscite that would coincide with the next federal election.

Mr. Pearson, other cabinet members and Social Credit MPs challenged the legality of this amendment. They argued that the flag committee is dead since the House placed a six-week time limit on the committee's deliberations in a motion passed Sept. 10.

CAN BE REVIVED

The Conservatives replied that the House can revive the committee and said their amendment provides for this. The argument continued for nearly an hour and Speaker Alan Macnaughton said he would rule on the question later, probably today.

Mr. Monteith accused the Liberal members of the committee of breaching their vow of silence by "leaking" several accounts to reporters. He denied published reports that Mr. Diefenbaker "piped" instructions to the five Conservative committee members.

Reynold Rapp (PC—Humboldt-Melfort-Tisdale) said he is a "Red Ensign man" but in the interests of the country he had been ready to accept a compromise design. He asked what would be wrong with a maple leaf flag incorporating a small Union Jack and a fleur-de-lis in the two upper corners.

He said most committee members in the end ruled out designs incorporating a small Union Jack and fleur-de-lis because these would be "perpetual reminders of the things that divide us."

Marcel Lessard, MP for Lac St. Jean and Social Credit representative on the committee, said his 11-man group will give quite substantial voting support to the new flag proposal.

MAKES APPEALS

He appealed to Conservatives to let the issue come to an early vote. Once democracy had been served by full discussion, the majority should be allowed to decide.

Henri Latulippe (Creditiste-Compton—Fontenac) reiterated the support of his 13-man group for the new design. Canada had most other attributes of a sovereign nation and the time had come to select a distinctive flag.

John R. Matheson (L—Leeds) said the single-leaf design is striking and has classic simplicity. "This flag sends one message—Canada."

The design met all the tests for a distinctive flag but Mr. Diefenbaker was more scornful than ever. "It is quite impossible to please this angry man," he said.

Terry Nugent (PC—Edmonton—Strathcona) accused the Liberal committee members of showing contempt for parliament and lack of integrity. They had violated committee rules by taking orders from Mr. Pearson and by leaking newspaper stories.

HE'S SHOCKED

Leo Cadieux (L—Terrebonne), a committee member, said he was shocked by this charge. He had not discussed the flag question with any cabinet minister. He predicted the committee's recommendation will carry by "an astounding majority" once the House reaches a vote.

J. A. McBain (PC—Elgin) said a majority of the people in his area want to retain the Red Ensign.

Reynold Rapp (PC—Humboldt-Melfort-Tisdale) said he is a "Red Ensign man" but in the interests of the country he had been ready to accept a compromise design. He asked what would be wrong with a maple leaf flag incorporating a small Union Jack and a fleur-de-lis in the two upper corners.

Skilled Worker Shortage Forecast in Saskatchewan

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Saskatchewan government plans to recruit British professional and skilled workers to help meet a labor shortage developing in the province, Premier Ross Thatcher said today.

Mr. Thatcher said in an address to a Vancouver service club that his province already has shortages of doctors, nurses and teachers and next year will face a major shortage of labor in a number of fields.

The Saskatchewan government will ask Saskatchewan House, its British office, to begin recruiting immigrants skilled in these fields and may help pay transportation costs, he said.

The premier, who campaigned in the April Saskatchewan election on promises to bring major industry to the province and create 80,000 new jobs in four years, called for a modernization of Canadian immigration laws to bring more people to the country.

"We have tremendous natural resources in Canada, but we still lack a sufficiently large industrial and population base to benefit to the extent we should from those resources."

CREATE DEMANDS

"We need more human resources to build this country and create the consumer demand for the products we are competent to produce," he said.

Immigration policies 60 years ago designed to open up Western Canada served the nation better than the policies the country "so timidly follows today," Mr. Thatcher said.

The premier also renewed his call for major federal tax cuts as "a major weapon in combatting unemployment."

He said tax cuts such as those recently made in the United States could "turn hundreds of millions of dollars back into the economy for real growth and development."

Mr. Thatcher said Canada still is tied to "an antiquated tax system" that grew up under conditions of depression and war.

"We seem to think that when we are confronted with problems, the first step is to raise taxes to give the government more money for pump priming. Surely a more effective solution would be to create the economic climate that will encourage growth, development and research, which in turn will result in greater productivity, employment, wages and profit."

When you buy more life insurance
stop and think first.

Let's say you've decided to invest an extra $200 a year in life insurance. What's the next step?

Careful now. Don't just order "another $10,000." That's like buying a house without seeing it first. A house has to fit your family, your family activities, your future plans.

So does your insurance programme. Your problem is to fit that extra $200 worth into your overall plan for financial security and growth. Should you spend it on more family protection today? Or on providing cash for a child's education fifteen years from now? Or on a retirement fund for yourself? Or on a combination of these?

You can see how, without help, planning such a programme can be complicated. But there is help. Your Manufacturers Life underwriter has an ingenious device called a Security Graph, which systematically pictures your overall financial position and objectives, and then indicates where that $200 will do the best job.

There's no charge for a Security Graph insurance review. So call your Man from Manufacturers soon.

A Vision Clouded

ALTHOUGH there were many developments to inspire hope, there is a widespread feeling, not only among non-Catholics but apparently also among many who took part, that the Vatican Council which recessed a few days ago fell short of the goal envisioned by the late Pope John when he opened the series of gatherings in 1962.

There was progress in several particulars, and the general ecumenical spirit—the trend toward a new unity in the Christian Church—was largely preserved. But the movement toward a more liberalized influence in the Roman Catholic Church was slowed by the latest sessions of the council; the great strength exhibited by many participants who urged the Church to stride resolutely into the realities of the twentieth century was checked before it could become fully demonstrated in action. The progressive thinking of many bishops was—at least for the time being—held in restraint by the more conservative elements of the Vatican.

It is true that the final decree of the council, proclaimed by Pope Paul, stressed Christian unity. But it also indicated the rigidity of the Church, even within the ecumenical concept. The decree looked to the day when "all Christians will, at last, in a common celebration of the eucharist, be gathered into a single Church in that unity which Christ bestowed on His Church from the beginning."

But the decree also made plain that "We believe that this unity subsists in the Catholic Church as something she can never lose..." Protestants were still left with the feeling that any unity that was achieved would be from their going closer to Rome, rather than in a meeting half-way.

One critic feels that the conference "closed... not an ecumenical but a Vatican council," and cites the petition which was presented to Pope Paul by three cardinals, including Paul-Emile Leger of Montreal: "Reverently but urgently, very urgently, most urgently, we ask that a vote on the declaration on religious freedom be called before the end of this session of the council lest the confidence of the world, both Christian and non-Christian, be lost." That petition had been signed by more than 1,000 of the 2,000 persons present, asking a reversal of the presidential ruling which had blocked the vote. It was not granted.

The door is still open; the Council will reconvene and the formulation of policy will be continued. But there will be less optimism among those who participate and those who attend only to observe. The momentary glimpse of something new and exciting which Pope John opened to the world has again become clouded by traditional conservatism and the reassertion of hard, practical facts.

Trustee? Why Bother?

IT IS SAD, BUT PERHAPS NOT surprising, that Victoria has passed civic nomination day with only one candidate for two seats on the school board.

The situation is new to Victoria but not unique in school board history. Moreover, on several occasions sufficient candidates for school trustee have been rustled up only at the last moment. This time disinterest in the office was apparently stronger than persuasion.

The vacancy on the board will be filled by an appointee of the minister—an alternative which reflects little credit on democratic inspiration in this locality.

But the result of nominations here could furnish some benefits if sufficient study were given to the question it raises: Why did no one want the job?

The rewards of being a trustee are intangible. Nobody is paid for serving, no substantial perquisites go with the office. Moreover, it is understandable that many individuals who might have considered standing declined because they were not prepared to be targets for many of the criticisms levelled at those who run our schools; they were not ready to let mistakes they might make become public, nor suffer the ill-considered attacks so often launched on public office holders whether justified or not.

Beyond all this is the growing belief among some people interested in education that the school board is autonomous largely in name only, that, in fact, it is inevitably directed by the department of education.

In addition, each year customarily brings a complaint from some city council members that school trustees arrange to spend money but not to collect it—a narrow interpretation of school board financing which persists. And, of course, almost annually the trustees find themselves involved in salary disputes with teachers, a situation anything but encouraging to holders of unpaid office.

This year, it is reasonable to assume, a number of good citizens may have considered running for trustee, may have noted some of the disagreeable factors involved and finally asked themselves: Why bother? They apparently found no answer to that question.

Investment Brings Ownership

RECENT ESTIMATES OF THE United States Commerce Department on American investment in Canada are bound to warm up the controversy over whether or not Canadians can really call their country their own when so much of its resources and industry are controlled by foreigners.

The Commerce Department figures show that there has been a dramatic increase in American direct investment in Canada over the past two years, and that new capital this year will come within eight per cent of the record high set in 1957. Even more significantly, a larger share of this investment is going into Canadian manufacturing which is already about 60 per cent in foreign hands. Back in 1957 the bulk of American capital flowing into this country went into natural resources such as petroleum and minerals.

This renewed surge of American capital into Canada is, of course, an indication of the confidence which the investors have in the growth possibilities of the country. It is also an indication that Americans believe Canada to be a safe place in which to invest.

The latter point, while it may be considered complimentary in a way, is also just a little puzzling, for the build-up of American ownership of Canadian industry and resources over the past two years has taken place during a period in which the question of foreign control has become more contentious. Americans, in other words, do not take very seriously the possibility that Canadians can, or will, resort to any measures which would threaten foreign control of Canadian resources.

The American assessment of Canadians appears to be that they are willing, and will remain willing, to sell off the assets and opportunities of their country in return for a high standard of living which they could not so quickly achieve on their own.

In the Proper School

A SUGGESTION MADE IN Victoria last week by the president of the Canadian Restaurant Association that Canadian universities institute courses in hotel and food service management must be greeted with some skepticism.

It may well be that if the demand for this training is great enough—and there is no such course available in this country—that a technical or trade school should take it up. But to suggest, as the association head, Mr. Harvey J. Smith, did in a speech to the local branch, that this requires university level training is going a little far. It leads to the suspicion that what is sought is not so much training as prestige.

Mr. Smith claimed that Canadians have to go to American universities to get the instruction in hotel and food management which they need to make a success of the business, and that the Canadian tourist industry is suffering because Canadian universities do not offer this training. It is well known that there are colleges in the United States which will grant degrees in almost any subject from basket weaving to flagpole sitting. These institutions range from reputable trade schools to mere diploma mills, but they are not, in the Canadian sense, universities.

Rather than bewail the fact that Canadian universities do not offer courses in hotel and food management, the restaurant and hotel people should, in the interests of raising standards in their industry, work with federal and provincial vocational training officials for establishment of suitable training. The universities have a hard enough time now coping with the demand for academic and scientific training without becoming bogged down in trade school courses.

FROM WASHINGTON

Action Bad Politics, Inaction Worse

PRESIDENT Lyndon Johnson's decision about the agonizing Vietnamese problem will probably not be shouted from the housetops, but before very long the nature of the decision is bound to be revealed. Some sort of novel action will be taken. Or we shall be told, as we have been told before, that the outlook in Viet Nam is by no means all black; and nothing further will be done while the crisis goes from bad to worse. Such are the signs to watch for.

As these words are written, the informed betting is marginally better than even that additional, considerably sterner action against the Communist North Vietnamese will finally be ordered.

Yet the going odds of six-to-five on a positive decision are enough to indicate how much uncertainty still prevails on the very eve of the final choice. Furthermore, these odds can be decidedly misleading, unless the meaning of the word "action" is rather precisely defined.

For even if the president's decision is positive, he will still have to make a further choice between the different kinds of action now being urged by two factions of his advisers.

Tentative Retaliation

One group has been proposing what may be called tentative retaliation against North Vietnamese aggression, with the unspoken proviso that the United States can draw back again if the going gets too rough.

Another group has been advocating going in to win, with a full, pre-planned program of phased, continually expanding effort to teach the North Vietnamese a badly needed lesson. The opening round would be about the same in both cases, to be sure; yet the difference of intention between tentative retaliation and going in to win can be very important indeed.

It can be so important because the true character of the president's decision to act will be extremely hard to conceal. Furthermore, if the smallest American weakness or tentativeness is detectable, the risks of action will at once be greatly increased.

If Hanoi, or Peking, or Moscow suspect that the president is not absolutely resolute, they will be encouraged to do things now, and to swear they will do even more terrible things later, in order to exploit the president's supposed irresolution. And the president will then have to choose between drawing back again—thus proving irresolute—or showing that he is really resolute by taking even grimmer steps than might otherwise have been necessary.

Once Committed

Even so, the advocates of going in to win look like combining with the advocates of tentative action, simply because a good many of them figure that if we start at all we shall not stop. Add that the president has also been careful to arm himself with all the arguments for doing nothing further in Viet Nam, except trying to conceal a catastrophic defeat in Southeast Asia behind a thin smoke screen of negotiation.

These negative arguments have been provided, not only by some officials of the state department, but also by the powerful Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, who was invited to the Johnson ranch in Texas for that purpose.

Altogether, the impression is conveyed of the president approaching this decision as a man might approach a smorgasbord table, waiting to see how the herring salad, the meat balls and the cold cuts actually look on their plates before choosing between them. It is not the best way, perhaps, to approach a decision which is certainly the gravest the president has yet had to make, and probably the gravest he will ever make.

World He Never Made

His final decision, of course, will be the real test. Meanwhile, it must be remembered that President Johnson is trying to cope with a world he never made, with the help of an administration he never made. President John Kennedy made the enormous, perhaps mistaken effort to be his own secretary of state, and although Mr. Johnson makes no such effort, the administrative machinery is still designed to suit Mr. Kennedy's work habits.

In the world he never made, the Vietnamese crisis is also the most unhappy part of the president's inheritance. The fact remains, however, that presidents are not judged by the nature of their inheritances, but strictly by what they do with them.

If defeat in Southeast Asia is accepted, it will only be the beginning of a chain reaction which will leave us nothing in the Pacific, in the end, of all that we fought for and won in the Second World War and in the Korean War. As the losses mount and are registered at home, the bitterness will mount proportionally. As President Harry Truman did in China, President Johnson now faces a situation in which taking action will be bad politics now, whereas inaction will be worse politics later on.

Mr. Wilson Is Still Determined to Level Up

THE world is too much with us, late and soon, getting and spending, we lay waste our powers... William Wordsworth's poignant sonnet seems particularly applicable to Prime Minister Harold Wilson, in his present dilemma; trying to build his brave new Britain with the outside world breathing down his neck.

One thing is certain: sooner or later Britain's books — now many hundred million pounds in the red — will have to balance. Nobody, Left, Right or Centre, thinks we can live indefinitely on borrowing.

The question on which the career of Mr. Harold Wilson and the future of the British Labor Party depends, is whether the necessary balance between the columns will be struck by levelling up or levelling down. Levelling up means stimulating a high level of production, maintaining full employment, keeping prosperity going and exporting enough to pay the necessarily high import bill such a program would involve. Levelling down would be to admit that Britain cannot afford to import enough to keep the present high level of employment and consumption.

Slow-Down Risks

This would result in a general squeeze on investments, the slowing down of building and industrial re-equipment, the postponement of social and educational reforms, and the reversion to the stop-go cycles against which the Labor Party directed its entire election campaign.

Though last week was the most difficult since the Labor Party came to office, the British government is still determined on levelling upwards. The prime minister is convinced that if the world gives him a breathing space British industry can be made sufficiently competitive to make new strides on the world markets. The one item on which—unlike his Conservative predecessors—he is ready to level down, is on military expenditure. The new military estimates, for which the ground was laid at Chequers at a summit meeting of political and military leaders is expected to reduce military budgets perhaps by as much as £250 million or £300 million. The savings will be partly in overseas spending—a direct contribution towards restoring the balance of payments.

For More Economic Use

There will also be savings in certain types of equipment made at home, notably in aviation, so that money, men and materials can be diverted into more economic and profitable enterprises.

But all this takes time; meanwhile the level of investment depends on the confidence of a rather small and not necessarily broad-minded international group of men, who have to be convinced that the New Britain will be worth putting their money into—or at least not taking it out of.

In Mr. Wilson's first effort to strike a balance when he took over, he slammed on an import surcharge of 15 per cent and a small export rebate of 1½ per cent. The outside world hesitated; foreign traders screamed their indignation, but the financiers, though they were not unaffected by the rumpus, waited to see what would happen next.

The real trouble for them began with the autumn budget, announced a fortnight later. It was then that the government began filling in the details of its "incomes policy." This differed from the incomes policy which the Conservatives had urged, but which the trade unions had rejected, in that it would apply to all types of incomes—not just wages and salaries, but also profits, dividends and rents.

World Markets

Both parties agreed that unless wages could be kept in line with productivity, British goods would soon price themselves out of the world markets, and it was Labor's hope that they, and they alone, could do the necessary deal with the unions. That is why, when Mr. Callaghan, Chancellor of the Exchequer, outlined his budget, he offered the unions, as their part of the package deal, a new capital gains tax on the unearned acquisition of wealth.

Doukhobor Story

I have always hoped that the public and especially our news media would allow the Sons of Freedom problem to settle itself as it was doing until this publicity given Simma Holt's "Terror in the Name of God."

Having retired some years ago to live amongst and help the Doukhobors at Hilliers, and having suffered with them and Michael Veregin, I shall now have to try, with God's help, to give the true story of that experiment. It will be a shock to many, but I know three of our justices of the Supreme Court of B.C. who will approve as will our dedicated public servants in the Kootenays and those fine citizens who gave so much of their valuable time serving on the B.C. Doukhobor Commission, among them late Col. F. J. Mead of the RCMP, Bishop Gower, president Norman McKenzie, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Dean Geoffrey Andrew, Prof. Hawthorn, Stuart Jamieson and Dr. William Dixon.

When Simma Holt's articles appeared in the Vancouver Sun I contacted her hoping to help her but she did not want to listen.

Price By Color

Drivers who are not color-blind will appreciate the progress city engineers have made by painting the meter posts to represent the proper periods of parking. The maximum times indicated in color are red, 12 minutes; yellow, one-half hour; blue, one hour; and green, two hours.

When we saw meters first installed here in August 1947, all in the same dark, dull, drab green, we all bought time then at the bargain-basement rate of a nickel-an-hour. In 1952 the price doubled overnight on Broad Street, the time being then reduced from 12 minutes to a minimum of six minutes. To mail a parcel at the post office we then unwittingly parked at the first meter on Broad at Yates and then paid a dollar for over-parking (seven minutes) while the next meter round the corner on Yates was still a cent for 12 minutes. This caused us to comment at City Hall that the price difference between meters would be easily discernible if the posts were painted a different color to distinguish the time differential.

Twelve years have elapsed and it is nice to know that the parking fraternity has now provided sufficient money for the suggestion to be put into practice by the color-brush brigade to bring about this welcome change, so adding to the overall aesthetic effect of the downtown paint-up.

Of course, there are some who think that a further improvement would be to remove them altogether but there would then be no vacant spaces for shoppers and we would miss the bright colors of our nursery days.

Smile for Tourists

I am very concerned at the thought that we may not be able to give our tourists the Jerry Goeley Smile Show during the 1965 tourist season.

In all the years I had the Oak Bay Beach Hotel I never missed a week in taking groups of our guests to this show—sometimes as many as 35 in one evening. Without exception they found it the most amusing entertainment they had had, and often told me it was the highlight of their whole Victoria stay.

I hope everything possible will be done to see that Jerry has suitable accommodation for this entertainment that he has worked so very hard to produce.

and a corporation tax on companies. International financiers raised their eyebrows; better not keep money in Britain if you risk having the profits skimmed. Money started flowing out, and with the frighteningly infectious nature of all financial scares it soon amounted to a run on the pound sterling.

'No Confidence'

It was this international declaration of "no confidence" in the Labor government's tax policy which compelled the cabinet to raise the bank rate to the unexpectedly high level of 7 per cent. The shock was deliberate, and indeed underlined by the decision to act, not on the Thursday, when bank rate is regularly announced, but suddenly, early on a Monday morning. But the British public, particularly Labor, was reassured. The decision was only to stop "funk money" leaving Britain. The idea was "burn the fingers of the speculators." It would not be accompanied by a domestic squeeze, and the government, it was emphasized, was as resolved as ever to pursue an expansionist economic policy aiming towards a four per cent rate of growth.

The increased bank rate certainly made London a more alluring place for putting money into, but the accompanying anti-business "noises off" and the double suspicion, first that expansion would promote a new round of inflation, and secondly, that there would soon be taxes penalizing profits, worked the other way. Pressure on the pound continued.

Protecting Pound

The government is still resolved to achieve its domestic growth without endangering the pound. "We will keep the pound riding high," the prime minister promised the City of London (the financial centre), and he meant it. But a high-riding pound means the trust of the people who hold its future in their hands, and they are not Mr. Wilson's most natural allies.

If the pound sterling had been merely a United Kingdom monetary symbol, the problem of the currency would be one of internal policies only, and the government could plan its timing and program to suit its political convenience. But the pound is an international currency, and Wilson has to combine the talents of a Labor Party leader with those of a world banker—and as all the world knows the first quality of a successful banker is to create confidence and trust among people with money.

This is a hard task for a Socialist leader. Some people—but not Mr. Wilson—would say it was impossible.

(London Observer Service)

On the Other Side of That Wall

As I pass by in the bus, I admire the growth of the new green grass on the City Hall precinct lawn. Then my eyes lift and I see the very plain, very brick back end of the McPherson Theatre.

It leaves me wondering why the blithe spirits in our town haven't suggested that we send away, perhaps to Mexico, for a mosaic artist to create a Thunderbird facade over it, with lots of gilt and stuff and such. In mind's eye I can even picture a bigger than life-size Pete Pantages in bronze poised on the roof corner for a dive into the Centennial fountain.

Maybe the speculation is a little irreverent. Still there's nothing looks so much like the brick back end of a theatre as the brick back end of a theatre, and I'd like to see it disguised a little. They did a pretty fair job of that to the rear of Notre-Dame Cathedral in Paris. The effect was so good most of the "art" photographs taken of Quasimodo's temporary home capture that part of the building.

Artistically, what happens to the back brick wall should be a lot less important than what happens on the other side of it, for the entertainment of the paying customers out front. It's my hope that the productions will be very high grade indeed. They have not always been. In the days of the Pantages circuit we had some of the greatest vaudeville artists of all time treading the boards—Fred Allen among them, and top-flight acrobats. And we've had stock that didn't produce much in the way of theatrical dividends, though some of it was good.

I'm sure I went to that theatre since the days when Pearl White's early movies kept us in cliff-hanging suspense between Saturday morning serials for kids. We walked the long way downtown to see them, our nickel admission fees in our pockets. And we walked back home again over roads that seemed longer.

Hazily I recall—I think at the Pantages—my introduction to grand opera, a presentation of Rigoletto by a San Francisco company. That almost "did" grand opera for me. The tenor looked like a pot-bellied jockey, the soprano like one of the Lions' middle-line-backers. When he made gallant love to the lady he had to sort of climb up, like a troop of Brownies hiking over Gonzales Hill.

It seems to me, also, that I watched the Lee Jackson stock company operate there and develop the high art of ad libbing when random lines slipped—the memory of "hardworking troupers."

Because I'm not what you could call a "patron of the thith," the old Pantages days glow most warmly in my memory. I could appreciate the tumblers, the balancing acts—particularly the teetering act from five chairs up with a performer executing a back somersault to a sitting landing from the top chair when the pile tipped over. I've listened to patter men there, with jokes that honored the memory of Noah.

I even won two dog biscuits and a package of soap there on a lucky ticket when the management was coaxing in customers with that early give-away program called the country store. We didn't own a dog at the time, and the biscuits, for my teeth and palate, were rock hard and tasteless.

Apart from vaudeville headlines—bless their memory and the fun they gave us—it seems to me that the Pantages, under that name or when it was called the Coliseum and York, was a bit shy of class.

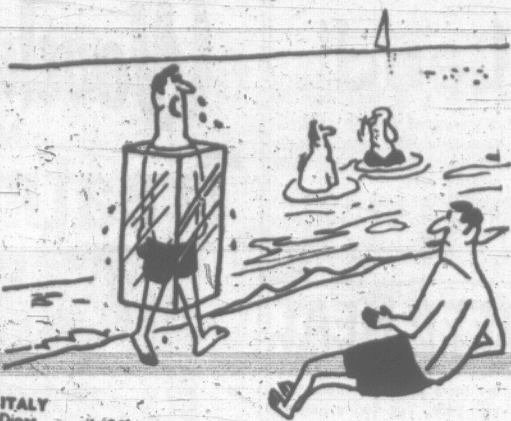

It almost became the site of my introduction to professionalism, though. At one time, when the circuit was scraping well down into the barrel, and when I was a kid beginning to dive, negotiations went on at second hand to bring me into an aquatic routine, with a big glass tank on the stage.

My parents took what seemed to me a rather prosaic attitude to this opportunity for adventure. They thought I should at least finish high school—and parental opinion in that age was over-riding.

So now we're dressing up the old theatre again and I hope it attracts the class with which it has not been too familiar in the past. I'm not thinking in terms of La Scala, the Old Vic, or even that unusual-looking building on the bank of the Avon. But it should house something better than run-of-the-mill productions if civic theatre is to mean anything here.

Mr. Pearson said he had wisely bet $2 on British Columbia Lions, 34-24 winners of the Grey Cup football game in Toronto.

Mr. Winch said this merely proved Canada has a prime minister who "plays both ends against the middle."

...REPORTING

OTTAWA — The art of governing with only a plurality in the House of Commons was advanced a bit last week, but the advancement caused the Liberals a great deal of anguish.

A much-chastened government now realizes that Prime Minister Pearson's brave pledge 20 months ago to conduct himself as if he enjoyed a Liberal majority was only whistling past the graveyard.

When the chips were down on Friday it was the little parties that held the balance of power in the Commons. The NDP, the Creditistes and the Socreds dictated what the government must do. They announced that unless the government broadened the terms of reference of the judicial inquiry into the affair Favreau-Tremblay-Denis-Lord, they would vote for a Tory motion of non-confidence in Justice Minister Favreau. And so the government gave in.

The situation was reminiscent of that at 8 p.m. on Feb. 5, 1963, when Sacred Leader Thompson and his then deputy, Real Caouette, had made it plain that the Socreds would vote with the Liberals and NDP against the minority Diefenbaker government unless the prime minister acquiesced to their demands. John Diefenbaker tried to talk himself out of his dilemma, and his government fell. Acting Prime Minister Paul Martin was wiser: He knew that talking was futile, and so he chose the course which, however humiliating, would save the government from even greater humiliation.

By agreeing to broaden the investigational authority of Chief Justice Dorian in accord with NDP demands, the government has nothing to fear unless the facts are not as Mr. Favreau stated them in the House. The opposition demanded, and got, a nook and-cranny investigation in place of a carefully focussed investigation.

If the Dorian report disappoints the political hopes of the Tories, they will cry "whitewash!" That's inevitable; it's part of the political game Mr. Diefenbaker is playing. But if the Quebec jurist does a thorough nook and cranny job, it will be much more difficult for the government's foes to impugn the report.

In spite of extreme provocation from the Liberals, the back bench Tory MP who made the expose, Erik Nielsen, acted with a sense of responsibility throughout the week's debate. So did some other MPs, notably NDP leader T. C. Douglas. But for Mr. Diefenbaker and a good many other Conservatives the objective appeared to be the political destruction of the minister of justice and the shredding of the government's reputation.

But if the leader of the opposition looked like an exultant prosecuting attorney metaphorically fitting the noose around the neck in the dock, the prime minister of Canada looked slightly ridiculous as the little man who wasn't there.

Advised on Sunday of the political storm about to break, he postponed his scheduled departure Tuesday for a Grit convention in Saskatchewan so he could be present in the House that afternoon. Thursday afternoon he was reported to have decided to return to Ottawa. Thursday evening he was reported to have changed his mind.

His place during the political crisis was in the Commons. If he had to be away, then the government, which decides the order of business, should have called a more innocuous topic for debate last week. For example, the flag.

SYNOPSIS — The warm air made little or no headway into northern B.C. Monday night as temperatures in the Cariboo hovered near zero.

However a weather system approaching the coast will bring another surge of moist warm air to the province and the moderating trend should extend to north of Prince George on Wednesday. The system will also bring more rain to coastal areas and snow to the interior.

1,000 Exiles in U.S. Are Double Refugees

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Many persons in Miami's exile colony of 100,000 might be called double refugees—first from China, then Cuba.

More than 1,000 Chinese who fled to Cuba after Communists took over China 15 years ago moved a second time with the advent of Premier Fidel Castro's Red regime, says Ramon G. Chiong.

Chiong, president of Cuba's Chinese colony for 12 years, came here with Chinese embassy personnel in 1960 when Nationalist China and Communist Cuba severed relations.

In all, says the 63-year-old refugee whose Havana supermarket was taken over by the Castro regime, more than 2,000 Chinese have left Cuba since 1959. There were 30,000 Chinese there.

"Many Chinese—more than 30—are in prisons in Cuba," he said in an interview. "Usually there is no charge, but they are known to be anti-Communists. Ninety-five per cent of the old Chinese colony in Cuba is anti-Communist."

REALTOR PROTESTS HIGHWAY RULING

'Mile-Wide No-Man's Land'

A Victoria realtor said Monday night that a department of highways regulation is making it difficult to sell property.

"I don't see what right the highways department has to create a mile-wide no-man's land," said J. B. Law at a Saanich public hearing.

"It means property near highways can't be moved," Mr. Law was referring to a provincial statute giving the highways department final say over all zoning within a half-mile radius of any intersection on a main highway.

The effect of this in Saanich, with too many intersected main routes, is to create two mile-wide strips over which the highways department has final zoning control.

MOTEL APPROVED

Council on Monday night approved Mr. Law's application for motor hotel zoning at Trans-Canada and Patricia Bay Highways intersection.

But this is subject to highways department approval, which is unlikely before a long-awaited traffic study is presented to and studied by the department.

Mr. Law's clients want to build a $360,000 motel at the intersection.

Two area residents objected at the hearing, querying the ability of exit roads to handle the extra traffic and the possibility of a liquor outlet in the motel.

NO LIQUOR

Mr. Law said there are no plans for a liquor outlet in the 43-unit motel.

TB Mothers

Subject Of Probe

A study will start in January into the effects of having a baby while the mother has tuberculosis.

The study will be conducted by Dr. R. M. Lane, director of tuberculosis control on Vancouver Island.

It is one of many research programs made possible by sale of Christmas TB Seals, he said.

The study will be conducted on all women living on Vancouver Island who have had TB between the ages of 17 and 42.

A similar study of 10 years indicated having a baby increased the probability of smoldering TB being re-activated by as much as 500 per cent.

"Indeed, at one time these women were often advised not to have children and therapeutic abortions were not uncommon," he said.

The situation has since changed and now expectant mothers are advised to have a TB skin test only, not an X-ray.

"This study will attempt to measure exactly how much this situation has changed and it will also attempt to gather information as to how it might be improved even more," he said.

Gov't Action Requested On Britannia

A union brief urging provincial intervention to reopen the Britannia copper mine was to be presented to the cabinet Monday.

International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union was to make the request, the highlight of its annual meeting with the provincial ministers.

The mine, operated by Anaconda Copper Company, on Howe Sound, 30 miles north of Vancouver, was closed out as a producer after miners went on strike Aug. 11. The company said it was a marginal producer and not worth continuing.

The union says the closure denies the province development of a natural resource which warrants government action.

The union's brief also will ask the government for improvements in compulsory safety regulation for construction work carried out underground. It follows an accident this fall in which two construction workers were killed in a Peace River dam diversion tunnel.

F/L W. E. MILLER, CD

Here all week on Tri-Service talks in local secondary schools is Flight-Lieutenant W. E. Miller of Vancouver Recruiting Unit. Subject of the talks is "Careers in Canada's Armed Forces."

LAW
... "what right?"

He also said that virtually any use of the property would entail more traffic on nearby roads.

Mr. Law pointed out that tax from the land would jump from about $400 annually to about $7,000 if the motel were to be built.

Council approved the application unanimously.

FURTHER STUDY

An application for a medium-density apartment zoning on nearby property at Trans-Canada and Wascana was referred back to the planning department for further study.

Several councillors seemed opposed to the land use, but agreed with Coun. Leslie Passmore that the owner can hardly use it for anything else.

Turned down at the public hearing was the application of a University of Victoria professor to rezone Sinclair Road land to allow two dwellings on one lot.

BARN HOME

Patrick Gleeson, an English instructor at the university, wants permission to use an old barn as a residence after renovating it.

Council voted to reject the application after hearing a report from municipal planner Tom Loney.

Mr. Loney pointed out the inevitable development of Haro Road would mean the building would be too close to two roads.

He also questioned the structural soundness of the venerable building.

In support of his application, Mr. Gleeson had a letter from the Greater Victoria Historic Buildings Trust, pointing out the advantages of preserving the building.

COST TOO MUCH

Council suggested Mr. Gleeson might move the building if it is sufficiently sound.

He said he can't afford it.

Approved at the hearing was an application to rezone property at 3377 Douglas for automobile sales and service use.

The property is south of existing Suburban Motors development, and is to be an expansion of its operation.

Also approved was an application to rezone land at McKenzie and Neilthorpe for church, school and related uses.

Sacred Heart Roman Catholic parish hopes to use the land to build a church, rectory and community hall there in time.

NEW LOOK FOR VSE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Investors Monday celebrated the opening of the new Vancouver Stock Exchange, trading just more than 1,000,000 shares during the day's activities.

Few "bugs" were reported hampering the operation of the highly mechanized new trading floor, which has eight closed-circuit television sets suspended from the ceiling.

The move to the new quarters, which cost an estimated $410,000, is the sixth in the 57-year history of the VSE.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Economy Riding High But So Are Failures

By GORDON HALL
Times Business Editor

Anyone looking for a label to place on the current Canadian economic situation could well settle on the words "nervous boom."

From all sides are heard optimistic forecasts of the outlook for 1965—

more sales, higher profits, expanded employment. For instance, the Financial Post semi-annual survey of business, to be published next Saturday, will show that two out of three firms expect profit gains, four out of five higher sales, and industry by industry spokesmen predict a record year.

And yet, moving from the particular to the general aspects of the economy, there are a number of disquieting signs that everything is not as rosy as it seems to be.

A major cause of the nervousness which underlies the Canadian economy can be traced to sensitivity to external influences.

Heightened competition for markets abroad, balance of payments troubles suffered by important customers such as Britain and Japan, quiet but persistent efforts to make it more difficult to sell in Canada's biggest market, the United States, all add up to a somewhat dimmer outlook than may appear on the surface.

UNEASINESS

Internal pressures are beginning to be felt which are also causing some uneasiness. As the boom rolls along into its fourth year imbalances and excesses in the economy are being spotted by observers.

Over-expansion in some areas leading to price-cutting, higher wage demands by labor leading to a squeeze on profits where the extra cost cannot be passed on to the buyer, rapid growth of the supply of money, heavy increases in bank loans and consumer credit; these are all important sign-posts.

There are paradoxes in the boom as well. A few days ago, for instance, the president of the Canadian Construction Association predicted that the industry would have a building program of more than $9 billion next year compared with this year's $8.7 billion.

And yet the latest figures from Dun and Bradstreet show that the construction industry in the third quarter of this year had a heavy increase in business failures compared with the same period last year and liabilities at $5,528,000 were up 152.5 per cent.

STAY FAILED

Similarly a leading retailer has predicted the value of retail trade next year at $21 billion compared with this year's $19.5 billion. But in the third quarter of this year 279 retailers went broke and left creditors with $6,133,000 in liabilities.

In fact, for a boom year, there seems to be a lot of insolvency in the Canadian business scene. For the first nine months of this year business failures were up 13 per cent over the same period last year.

Even worse, liabilities were higher by 42 per cent. At Sept. 30 a total of 1,787 firms had failed with liabilities of $121.7 million in liabilities, compared with 1,596 firms and liabilities of only $85.5 million in the first nine months of 1963.

Studebaker To Market Mitsui Cars

TOKYO (UPI)—Studebaker Corp. will form a joint venture with Mitsui & Co., one of Japan's largest trading houses, to distribute Japanese Toyota automobiles through Studebaker's 1,700-dealer U.S. sales network, reliable sources said today.

The sources said the deal was worked out in a series of meetings in Tokyo last month between officials of the three companies and former U.S. vice-president Richard M. Nixon, now a New York lawyer and adviser to Studebaker.

Toyota expects principally to market its new "Corona" line of vehicles in the U.S. The Corona, with a 1500-c.c. engine, is slightly larger and has higher performance characteristics than the Volkswagen, but will probably be priced competitively with the German vehicle.

GNP '6 PER CENT HIKE

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's gross national product should grow by six per cent in 1965, A. T. Lambert, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, said today.

He told the bank's annual meeting the economy will enter the year in a position of strength, but it will take "best efforts" to sustain the momentum.

He recommended that the federal government consider a tax cut during the year to "finance desirable increases in production capacity" and to ensure sufficient economic growth to absorb the increase in the labor force.

Of economic activity in 1965, Mr. Lambert said consumer attitudes remain confident and "personal expenditures on consumption should therefore continue to rise with personal income."

Member Body To Probe Affairs

A three-member committee was formed at a debenture holders' meeting Monday following disclosure earlier, of financial difficulties at Commonwealth Mortgage Corporation Limited.

Company president J. Donald Smith said today the committee was formed to assist in any way it can to solve the current problems.

Interest payments due on debentures in the middle of September were delayed 60 days. Mr. Smith said "we are taking no action for now" on the due payments.

Two spokesmen told The Times the committee was formed to study all business carried on by the company and why there is a shortage of money.

The committee has six months to report back to debenture holders but one source said "it shouldn't take that long."

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

After 400 years of searching for a formula to make enough money to pay off the butcher and sail to Haiti, one was finally found today.

The recipe is so simple it's absurd. Find out who the bookmakers favor in anything—football, fights or politics—and then bet the bundle the other way.

Remember 1917? (Of course, you do. That was the year the world decided to have no more wars.) Man-o-War was running at Saratoga.

They said the colt couldn't be beaten unless somebody slipped a mickey into his oats. The bookmakers quoted him as a 7-to-20 favorite. Horse players bet their shirts and caught it where Nellie wore the beads.

Man-o-War was left at the post. Something named Upset hung on long enough to paste Man-o-War with the only defeat of his career.

How about 1948? The Republicans nominated a mustache attached to Tom Dewey in the U.S. Presidential States. The Democrats had a scrappy, bespectacled contender named Harry Truman.

Match race? Giggie, giggle went the oddsmakers.

They called it the greatest mismatch since Goliath killed over to David.

Good-Natured Losers Were Audible

When America awoke after election day, mustaches were no longer popular in the U.S. Truman was sitting in the White House, reading the pre-election polls and laughing until he fell out of bed.

Turn now to Miami Beach. Sonny Liston, billed as a throwback to the days when orang-outangs were in vogue, a great muscular meatball, was the 7-1 favorite to zip the lip of Cassius Clay.

All over the globe piggy-banks were turned upside down and the contents emptied. There never was a sure thing like this. When Sonny took the gas the ultimate screams from good-natured losers could be heard in Leopoldville where they still don't play according to Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Off now to Hamilton, the city of steel and the "invincible" Hamilton Tiger-Cats. In pool halls, bars and other intellectual swamps, Eastern "books" pegged the Ticats by 7½ points.

The odds never dipped because westerners are liberally conservative (except when they are Social Credit). Their restraint was puzzling since The Times Casual Choices, which had not been wrong since Armageddon, offered the Lions by three points.

For a while Saturday, Armageddon appeared to be reborn. Rushed on the B.C. Lions' second offensive sequence, Joe Kapp threw hurriedly to Garney Henley. Great play except Henley wears Hamilton underwear.

Ticats Should Have Pulled Stumps

On the next Hamilton play, halfback Willie Betha found a freeway where the Lions usually station their line.

Betha went for 13 yards. Western hearts palpitated accordingly. Hamilton has been accused of many things, including ungentelemanly conduct, but Ticat backs have won few convictions for offensive loitering.

History has recorded that the Lions thereafter closed all the cordons to their goal line, forcing Hamilton to kick. Artistically, as it turned out, Hamilton's best play in the first half was to give Joe Zuger the ball and let him belt the blubber out of it.

Hamilton could have pulled stumps and declared when the score was 20-1. Instead they came out for the second half to see if Lions could make it 49-2. Something went wrong with the Hamilton strategy. The Ticats scored 16 points in the final quarter when the horse was out of the barn and long down the road.

There were some questions Monday for David Skrien, commander of the best football team in Canada.

Question: How badly was Bob Swift hurt?

Answer: "Badly enough that we never considered putting him back in, although he wanted to play. We'll know this week whether he tore or stretched ligaments in his knee. If they are torn it will mean surgery."

Henley on Fleming? No Contest . . .

Q: Was there a mixup in Hamilton's secondary when Willie Fleming broke through for the second B.C. touchdown?

A: "No, not unless it was caused by the terrific blocking our line gave Willie. Even downfield, Willie got two excellent blocks—one from Sonny Homer and one from somebody else. He still had Henley to beat but when Fleming is in a one-on-one situation it usually is no contest."

Q: Did you have any particular concern after Johnny Counts pumped life into the Hamilton cause with that quick touchdown in the third quarter?

A: "My main concern was right in the opening minutes of the game. Henley's interception gave them the ball, Betha ripped through us and I was worried that we would see Hamilton control the play. That was the pattern they used in the past on us. The Counts' touchdown was purely a brilliant offensive play—not a mistake by our defence. Paloney made the pitchout—how he got the ball away I'll never know—as he was tackled.

"Our backs had been forced to commit themselves and Counts was left with the sideline alley."

Snow? No, But Lots of Rain Here

Q: How were you put on the trail of Bill Munsey?

A: "Well, I went to Minnesota and he went to Minnesota. We took him and his parents to the Rose Bowl game and brought him up to Vancouver for a look. Of all the players we recruited that year (1955) he was the one I wanted most. We gave him a good deal (three-year contract) and now, you could say, he has given us a good deal."

Q: With the American and National Football Leagues spending money as if it was going out of style, do you expect to have much success recruiting?

A: "We're not hungry—or crazy. We would like to find a fight end. If we can't we may put Paul Seale there and recruit to fill his spot. By Bailey will probably pack it up."

Q: Looking for a fight end, you say. How about Notre Dame's Jack Snow? Pro scouts think he's another Ray (Baltimore Colts). Berry.

Pause.

A: "Snow? No, we haven't had any in Vancouver. How's the weather in Victoria?"

Not exactly avoiding the question, you understand.

Kromm to Pilot Stars Against Russian Club

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Playing coach Bobby Kromm of the Nelson Maple Leafs has been named to coach the Western International Hockey League all-star team which will oppose the touring Russian national squad in Trail Dec. 23.

In making the announcement, league president Mike Pabst said Kromm topped the balloting by a narrow margin over Bill Jones of the Kimberley Dynamiters.

Kromm took over the reins of the Maple Leafs this fall at a time when hockey appeared dead in Nelson. Nine of last year's players had retired and the coach had resigned.

He recruited young players who had graduated from Prairie, Okanagan and Pacific Coast junior leagues—persuading many to attend Notre Dame University here while playing hockey. With only five returning veterans he moulded a team which now leads the WIHL by five points.

Kromm will be seeking personal revenge for a 4-2 defeat Trail Smoke-Eaters suffered at the hands of the Russians in the 1963 world hockey tournament in Sweden when he was playing coach of the club.

Following the tournament he was released by the Trail executive.

Margaret Smith Keeps Net Crown

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australia's Margaret Smith defeated Billy Jean Moffitt of the United States 6-4, 6-3 in the final of the New South Wales singles tennis championship Sunday.

In the men's final between two Australian Davis Cuppers, Fred Stolle defeated Wimbledon champion Roy Emerson 4-6, 6-3, 11-9, 6-8.

ROSE BOWL REACTION

Members of Sigma Phi Delta fraternity at University of Southern California campus in Los Angeles display their disapproval of last Saturday's Rose Bowl selection. The Athletic Association of Western Universities (AAWU) picked Oregon State for the annual football game, but most USC backers thought their team deserved the bowl berth after Southern Cal upset mighty Notre Dame 20-17 Saturday. Surprise defeat cost Notre Dame national title. (AP Wirephoto.)

NEW YORK (AP)—Alabama was named the national collegiate football champion today, edging out unbeaten Arkansas by a paper-thin margin in the balloting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Crimson Tide, which was supposed to be in a building year, gained 34½ first-place votes and 515½ points on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third and so on.

GREY CUP SPELLS HOT BOX OFFICE FOR LEOS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possessing the Grey Cup has produced results described as "unbelievable" by the office staff of the British Columbia Lions.

Vida Scott, Lions' office director since the club was formed 11 years ago, said fans began seeking season passes for 1965 early Monday morning.

"It was unbelievable," she said.

"I don't know where all the people came from and those phone calls—we couldn't count the number. . . . Those who phoned wanted to know when they could come in and pick up season tickets for next year.

"Those who came in wanted to buy them here and now."

RING RETURN EXPECTED

Wounded Fighter 'Super Specimen'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Doctors said Monday heavyweight boxer Cleveland Williams, critically wounded in the stomach by a blast from a policeman's gun, may be fighting again in six months.

Williams, 31, No. 2 ranking heavyweight, underwent nearly six hours of surgery after being shot by Patrolman Dale Witten in a scuffle Saturday night.

Witten said Williams struck him and tried to flee after the boxer was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Charges of driving while intoxicated and aggravated assault on a peace officer were filed against Williams.

Doctors said Williams is a super physical specimen and that unless there are complications the 215-pounder should be out of hospital in 30 days and back in the ring in six months.

Doctors still listed the fighter in critical condition and said he must have peace and quiet. Williams was to have started training Monday for a fight with Ernie Terrell for the World Boxing Association's heavyweight title. The fight was scheduled for some time early next year.

The WBA does not recognize the title claimed by Cassius Clay nor the No. 1 challenger status claimed by Sonny Liston. Williams' manager, Hughie Bobrow, said he was satisfied in his own mind that the only reason Williams tried to get out of the police car was that "the big guy was afraid of what I might say to him when I found out he was in jail. He was scared to death."

Only four were selected in the regular draft, at $25,000 each.

Earlier in the day Washington Senators purchased catcher Doug Camilli from Los Angeles Dodgers for about the same price.

In the annual player draft Monday, major league teams picked up 63 players for $572,000.

Only four were selected in the regular draft, at $25,000 each.

Earlier Monday, Philadelphia Phillies acquired veteran pitcher Ray Herbert from Chicago White Sox for outfielder Danny Cater and shortstop Lee Elia in an inter-league deal.

The Phillies, who started the ball rolling Sunday by getting first-baseman Dick Stuart from Boston Red Sox for pitcher Dennis Bennett, are also dicker with Los Angeles Angels for pitcher Bob Bellinsky.

Chance, 24, batted .279 in 120 games, hit 14 homers and knocked in 75 runs. Held, 32, batted only .236 but drove in 49 runs in 118 games.

Hinton, drafted for $75,000 in 1960 from Baltimore Orioles, had his best season in 1962 when he batted .310 with 17 homers and 75 runs batted in.

Losers Claim Nine Berths On All-Stars

WINNIPEG (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats, Grey Cup losers, are All-Star winners with nine spots on the 1964 Canadian Football League team announced Monday night.

The Western Conference filled 14 positions on the 26-member team and the EFC 12.

Ticats, EFC champions, outdistanced British Columbia Lions for individual club honors on the team, expanded by ties at two positions.

The Lions made up for it by pummeling Hamilton 34-24 in the Grey Cup game Saturday, with a good share of the damage done by their six All-Star selections.

Calgary Stampeders, defeated by B.C. in the WFC final, had four players chosen in voting by the Football Reporters of Canada, Saskatchewan Roughriders three, Toronto Argonauts two and Ottawa Rough Riders and Edmonton Eskimos one each.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, last in the WFC with one win in 1964, and Montreal Alouettes failed to crack the All-Star lineup.

VOTE WAS CLOSE

Evidence of a close vote by 42 FRC members in the nine CFL cities were ties between Ron Brewer of Toronto and Bobby Kuntz of Hamilton at linebacker and Tony Pajaczowski of Calgary and Ticat Ellison Kelly at offensive guard.

Ballots carried the names of 26 defensive halfbacks, 16 defensive tackles, 15 linebackers and 13 offensive guards.

A 10-year veteran from Verdun, Que., who was named outshining Canadian player in 1961, Pajaczowski was the only man to achieve All-Canada ranking who did not earn a 1964 All-Star berth in his own conference.

He also is one of seven native Canadians on the team. The others are Brewer, Kuntz, flanker Tommy Grant, centre Chet Miksa and defensive end Pete Neumann; all Ticats, and defensive tackle Mike Cacic of B.C.

TOLEDO BACK IN PRO BALL

HOUSTON (AP)—The International League franchise at Richmond has been moved to Toledo.

The franchise was sold by supermarket owner Romero Champagne of Manchester, N.H., to the Lucas County Recreational Commission for an estimated $100,000.

New York Yankees will continue their working agreement with the club, which will be managed by Frank Verdi. He recently succeeded Preston Gomez, who has become a coach for Los Angeles Dodgers.

Toledo has not had a professional baseball franchise since 1949, when it was in the American Association.

Braves Buy Atlanta Club

HOUSTON (AP)—President John McHale of Milwaukee Braves has announced the purchase of the Atlanta baseball club from Bill McKechnie for $280,000.

The Braves previously announced they will move their National League franchise to Atlanta in 1966. Atlanta, at present in the International League, will continue to operate there in 1965 as an AAA club.

HAS WORLD'S BEST RUNNERS . . .

NOTED TRACK COACH CLAIMS

New Zealand is Rich in Peter Snells

AUCKLAND (CP)—There are plenty more Peter Snells in New Zealand, says Arthur Lydiard, famous Auckland track coach who has trained a string of gold medal winners and world record breakers.

Lydiard insists that New Zealand has the best middle and long-distance runners in the world. All they need are facilities and competition—the opportunity to realize their potential.

As an example he cites a 30-year-old lad on a farm in the Wairarapa district, in the southern part of the North Island. He says this young runner, Paul Kummer, is every ounce as good as Peter Snell, who won gold medals for 800 and 1,500 metres at Tokyo, and recently ran the fastest mile ever—a tremendous 3:51.1 effort.

But he may never get the chance to show his real brilliance.

Kummer came third behind Snell in the last New Zealand 880-yard championship. But, says Lydiard, this is only a hint of his capabilities.

"Because of family calls on his time, Kummer works on the farm from 5 a.m. until dark daily. The only opportunity he gets to train is for about 30 minutes during his lunch break. And on that scant training he finished only six seconds behind Snell in a national final.

"He's a natural, like a lot of other budding champions around the country whose best is never seen."

Lydiard's point about lack of competition is emphasized by the isolation of New Zealand. It is 1,200 miles even to Australia and thousands of miles more to other major competition centres. Although standards are high in New Zealand, few athletes can afford to gain experience abroad and the flavor of big-time track and field meets.

His point about lack of facilities is emphasized by the fact that Auckland, which has produced world record breakers in Snell, Murray Halberg and Bill Ballie, and other Olympic medal winners, still lacks a single cinder track.

Seeking suitable surfaces for his Olympic preparation during the New Zealand winter, Snell was obliged to use a track also used by horses training for harness racing. On his return from Tokyo in preparation for world record attempts, he complained that there was still not a grass track anywhere in Auckland in running order. He was obliged to use roads for much of his training.

The lack should be remedied within the next year when a cinder track is laid for a new stadium being developed as a track and field centre.

BOUCHER APPROVES . . .

Give 'em Dues When Deserved

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank Boucher, who recently levelled a volley of criticism at the National Hockey League, now believes the NHL should be congratulated for a "wonderful improvement in the over-all handling of games."

Boucher, commissioner of the Saskatchewan Junior League, made his change of heart known in a letter to NHL president Clarence Campbell dated Oct. 27. The letter was published in the Gazette today by sports columnist Vern Degeer, who said it had been made available by Mr. Campbell's office.

"In view of the fact that I have been critical in the past,"

... OF IMPROVEMENTS IN NHL

Boucher wrote, "I feel that it is only right and proper that I unhesitatingly voice my approval when it is so rightly deserved."

Boucher recently wrote in the magazine International Hockey that the game was being threatened by the failure of the NHL to enforce its rules or back up its officials.

He said he now wishes to sincerely congratulate the NHL for the "wonderful improvement which is evidence in the over-all handling of games so far this season."

But he still had a suggestion — a tightening up of holding infractions at the boards would be a most welcome change for the fans.

Extra Wing-Half May Be Solution To Fancy Passers

LONDON (Reuters) — Liverpool, the English Soccer League champions, may have started a new fashion when they used burly Tom Smith as an extra wing-half in their bid to upset the pattern-weaving Belgian club Anderlecht in the European Cup last week.

Bays to Play Burnaby Club In B.C. Final

The best high school soccer teams in B.C. will meet at Royal Athletic Park Saturday. Oak Bay, Island champions, tangles with Burnaby South mainland kings, for the B.C. crown at 12:15 p.m. Opening kickoff ceremonies will start at 12.

The game precedes the British-Canadian, Scottish McGavin Cup district league final.

Harry Jerome Accepts Bid To Cuba Meet

HAVANA (CP-AP) — Cuba's Amateur Athletic Union said Monday it has invited Canadian sprinter Harry Jerome of Vancouver to compete in a sports festival here next month, and that Jerome has accepted.

The Cuban AAU said it hopes to stage a re-run of the Tokyo Olympics 100-metre final, won by Bob Haye of Florida A and M, with Enrique Figueroa of Cuba second and Jerome third.

However, in Tallahassee, Fla., coach Jake Gaither said Monday night Haye will refuse the invitation because of "academic requirements."

The Cuban organization offered to pay all travel and other expenses for the visiting athletes. The invitation is for the Dec. 16-17 celebration in honor of the sixth anniversary of the movement that brought Premier Fidel Castro to power.

Swim Club Titles On Line Monday

Annual championship gala of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club will be staged Monday, Dec. 7, at the Crystal Garden. Trophies won during the gala will be presented at the club's 50th anniversary banquet and dance, scheduled Dec. 11 at St. Luke's Hall.

Tickets for the anniversary evening should be purchased upstairs at the Crystal Garden by Dec. 3.

Fiery Lindsay Has Mellowed

DETROIT (AP) — Ted Lindsay, once the most penalized player in the National Hockey League, has mellowed.

In a recent game in New York, Lindsay, back in the NHL after a four-year retirement, needed the Rangers' Vic Hadfield into a pair of minor penalties in the third period. The result: Detroit 6, New York 2.

But the fiery Lindsay's return to Detroit Red Wings means more than his team leadership in penalties. 44 minutes. Manager-coach Sid Abel, a teammate with Lindsay and Gordie Howe in the old "production line" days, says he thinks it's one of the reasons his club is in first place.

"He's a big help to the kids," said Abel. "When they are sitting on the bench, he's always talking to Pit Martin and Bruce MacGregor, pointing out things and suggesting moves."

"Then when they get on the ice, they know what they're going to do."

SCOWLS AT 'COMEBACK'

Lindsay scowls at the word "comeback."

"That's the wrong word," says the 39-year-old left winger. "I don't consider I'm making a comeback. This is it. I'm back for this year only. There'll be no next year."

Abel convinced Lindsay to come back last summer after failing to strengthen his weak spot at left wing.

"We don't have many left-hand shots," said Abel.

"I laughed at him when he made the suggestions," admits Lindsay.

"At Sid's suggestion I worked out at training camp, but I didn't make up my mind until the day before the season started. I told Sid, 'Okay, I'll give it a try.' We agreed that I go along on a game-to-game basis. And that's the way it is."

HAS FIVE POINTS

Lindsay has missed only one game. Business kept him in Detroit during a road trip to Chicago. He has scored twice and has three assists.

When he retired, after 13 years with Detroit and three with Chicago Black Hawks, he had 365 goals, fourth in the NHL behind Howe (570), retired Maurice (Rocket) Richard (544) of Montreal, and the Canadiens' Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffron (371).

Lindsay was the most penalized player in NHL history when he retired. He had 1,635 penalty minutes in 999 games.

"He has helped the club tremendously," said Abel, whose team missed the Stanley Cup by one game last spring.

Abel has been using Lindsay with MacGregor and Martin on the third line.

And the aggressive attitude, although tempered with reason, is still there.

DEFENCE SLIPS TOO!

Hull Only Hawk To Avoid Slump

MONTREAL (CP) — Bobby Hull, leading the National Hockey League with 23 points including 17 goals in 18 games, has scored more than one-third of Chicago Black Hawks' 50 goals. But despite his prolific shooting, the Hawks have dropped to fifth place.

NHL statistics, released today, show that Hull's teammates have only supplied 33 goals in 18 games, compared to Hull's 14 goals and 52 by the rest in as many games last season.

Kenny Wharram, an All-Star left winger with 37 goals last year, has fallen from 12 goals to four. Stan Mikita has slipped from 11 to six, Bill Hay from eight to one. The slump is general throughout the lineup, except for Eric Nesterenko's climb from one to four.

But a scoring drought is not Chicago's only ailment. The defence has allowed 48 goals, 11 more than they did in the first 18 contests last season. Goalie Glenn Hall's goals-against average has slipped from 1.88 to 2.50.

The meeting was attended by NHL president Clarence Campbell, representatives from five of the six NHL clubs and CAHA officials.

At present professional clubs may obtain rights to a hockey player as soon as he becomes 18 years old.

Mr. Fleury said this practice is harmful to young players who have to travel from city to city, to the detriment of their studies.

The proposal, he said, will be brought up at the annual meeting of the CAHA in Victoria next May. He hoped the NHL would make known its decision on the proposal at that time.

TIME OUT

"Maybe you do think there's too much violence on TV, Shvets, but I still wish you'd stop this turning the other cheek!"

Major League Listens To Under-20 Proposal

QUEBEC (CP) — Lionel Fleury, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Monday a proposal that hockey players remain free agents until the age of 20 was "well received" by National Hockey League officials.

The proposal, which would mean that hockey players under 20 would all be in a general pool and not belong to any NHL club farm team, was made during a weekend meeting of directors of the NHL and the CAHA in Toronto.

The meeting was attended by NHL president Clarence Campbell, representatives from five of the six NHL clubs and CAHA officials.

Patterson Still Nurses Ambition to Beat Liston

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson still nurses an ambition to beat Sonny Liston in a heavyweight title fight.

He'll have to cash in quite a parlay to make it come true since neither he nor Liston is champion.

The former two-time heavyweight ruler has it all figured out.

All he has to do is beat Charlie Powell in San Juan, Puerto Rico, Dec. 12; beat Canadian George Chuvalo in Madison Square Garden, Jan. 29; then get a fight with Cassius Clay, if the loud one still has some piece of the championship, and win that one, too.

Then, presto, in again with Liston to gain vengeance for his two first-round knockouts by Sonny.

For Chuvalo, life is much simpler.

"I think I can knock out Patterson," the Torontonian said. A. Robertson and Mrs. A. Castle, Clay champion.

Monday. "Then I'll be happy to take on Ernie Terrell or anyone else who can draw some money."

He'll collect a minimum of $30,000, his biggest purse ever. He said his previous high was $22,500 for a Canadian heavyweight title fight with Bob Cleary of Montreal.

Patterson has been guaranteed a minimum of $50,000, which isn't much for a fighter who has earned millions in the ring. Both probably will get considerably more on still undisclosed percentages.

The fighters, who had agreed to the match a couple of weeks ago, appeared at a press luncheon to announce the signing.

While Chuvalo said he would be happy to meet Terrell in a possible World Boxing Association heavyweight title fight, Patterson declined to say whether he would fight Terrell.

The reason for the question was the shooting of contender Cleveland Williams by a policeman in Houston Saturday night. Williams probably won't be able to fight for six months.

Williams, ranked second by the WBA, was supposed to fight Terrell, the No. 1 contender from Philadelphia, for the WBA's vacant title in January.

Then the winner was to meet the Patterson-Chuvalo victor within 90 days.

The WBA stripped Clay of recognition for signing to meet Liston in a return fight, New York, Massachusetts and many foreign countries still consider Clay champion.

Was Vibra-Tuned Ride named by an Irishman?
It sure sounds like Blarney.

Doesn't it though? How can you hang a name like that on a ride so smooth and nice that you hardly feel or hear anything? Obviously the engineer has kissed the Blarney Stone — and maybe that's a pity.

Because every one of the features he invents or perfects for Oldsmobile could easily make a name for itself. Oldsmobile engineering is all silk and satin smoothness. All quietness and comfort. All performance. All luxury. Vibra-Tuned Ride indeed! Super Rocket engine for Rocket "Go"! Air-Scoop brakes! How could you believe in a bunch of fancy names like that... without finding out for yourself what they really mean!

Say! Maybe that's the answer. Come on down to your Oldsmobile dealer's now. You might end up the same as us, thinking it's a darlin' car.

It was among the highest prices.

500 Million Urged to Pray

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The world's 500,000,000 Roman Catholics were asked today to pray for the success of Pope Paul's trip to India.

The Pope leaves before dawn Wednesday for the International Eucharistic Congress in Bombay. Plans were made for a special program of prayers in the Vatican and in Rome during the four days of his absence.

It will be the longest absence from Italy of any Pope since Pius VII returned in 1814 after five years in France as a prisoner of Napoleon.

The Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano said Catholics everywhere were asked to pray that the Pope's mission to India may be realized.

The Eucharistic Congress is a gathering of Roman Catholic Church representatives from around the world. But the trip is a personal gesture of friendship by the spiritual ruler of the Roman Catholic Church to all the non-Christian peoples of Asia.

The papal visit continued to generate controversy in predominantly Hindu India, where militant Hindus viewed it as the start of new Catholic conversion efforts.

ANSWERS REPORTS

Prime Minister Shastri was asked in Parliament Monday if he was aware of reports that the Catholic Church would use the visit and the Eucharistic congress to increase its Indian membership, now about 6,500,000.

Tickets for the Christmas dinner will be distributed.

The prime minister said he did not think the two events were intended to increase conversions and he hoped that would not be the result.

The Pope, in announcing the trip, said he was going to India as a pilgrim who wanted to meet the Indian people. Security problems presented by fanatic Hindus and their objections to plans for the pontiff to distribute gifts to the poor forced a revision of plans.

The latest official schedule for the Pope, issued Monday night in Bombay, drastically restricted his opportunities to rub shoulders with the Indian masses. Almost all his time will be taken up by official functions.

The Pope is to have one of his few chances to meet at length with non-Christian Indians Thursday. It is to last 90 minutes, but church officials in Bombay said it was not yet certain who would be invited.

'Bard in Modern English' Reaction to Mass Change

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I never knew until today the meaning of prayers I've been using ever since I was a little girl," said a St. Paul, Minn., woman after witnessing the use of English in a Roman Catholic mass.

But a middle-aged San Francisco woman, after going through the same experience, commented wryly: "This new mass is like doing Shakespeare in modern English."

These were typical of the differing viewpoints expressed by some of the 45,000 U.S. Roman Catholics after attending masses Sunday in which English was used for the first time in about half the service, instead of Latin.

A U.S.-wide spot check brought mostly favorable reaction.

RESPONSES

Most of the English is prescribed for use in the people's responses to the chanting of the priests in the 17,500 parish churches in the U.S.

The reforms were authorized by the Vatican ecumenical council last Dec. 4.

"It's a terrific social act," said Rev. Luke O'Connell of St. Anthony's Shrine, Boston. "The people are now able to see what was hidden before."

The St. Paul woman, Helen Conrad, found the new mass "very meaningful."

The San Francisco woman, who declined to give her name, preferred the full Latin usage, saying, "I'm a converted Catholic and we feel strongly about the old things."

"With the introduction of the vernacular," said Rev. Ralph Gorman, editor of the Catholic magazine, The Sign, "the people can participate intelligently instead of murmuring a mumbo-jumbo of Latin, as incomprehensible to them as Hindustani."

FAMILIES PLACED UNDER UNDUE STRESS

Curbs on Credit Proposed

OTTAWA (CP)—The Family Bureau of Greater Winnipeg today urged that restrictions be placed on the amount of credit that may be extended to individuals lacking the financial resources to meet their debt obligations.

"We are concerned at the extent to which credit is being issued in situations where the ability to repay does not exist," the bureau said in a brief to the joint Commons-Senate committee on consumer credit.

The bureau said the amount of credit to be extended to an individual is commonly assumed to be the exclusive concern of the creditor and that he will exercise caution to protect his own interests.

"We sharply question these assumptions and contend emphatically that the situation is of direct concern also to the debtor, his family and the community at large."

The bureau recognized that it was not possible to enact legislation to protect borrowers from their own weaknesses. However, it was possible to put certain protections on credit practices so as not to encourage or exploit them.

"The point we wish to make is that while some of the serious social situations arising through over-extension of credit are undoubtedly due to unscrupulous sales methods, there are also many cases where the lenders, acting individually according to routine business practices, and borrowers, without dishonest intent although without realistic thinking, produce similar situations."

'CONTROL INADEQUATE'

The widespread existence of such situations demonstrated that the present system of relying solely on the caution of the creditor did not provide adequate control.

"Some credit grantors have explained this frankly, by stating that the individual business firm generally finds it more profitable to loan freely, expecting a certain percentage of bad debts, than to include in its operations the costs of thorough credit investigation. Perhaps, therefore, we should re-examine the assumption that the creditor is the chief loser if credit is extended where there is no realistic possibility of recovery."

Social agencies were vividly aware of the stresses created for individuals and families who involve themselves in such situations. Tensions which pile up for these harassed individuals and families frequently contributed to family breakdown, mental illness, crime and economic dependency.

The bureau urged that a minimum down payment be required in all conditional sales contracts. This would help to restrict the practice of extending credit in situations where actual or potential assets to permit repayment do not exist.

It also proposed a waiting period of from three to five days during which such a contract could be rescinded by the borrower.

'Little Election' to Test Popularity of Labor Gov't

LONDON (CP)—Prospects of elections will be held the same day—either Jan. 19 or Jan. 21. January opened up today with the publication of former prime minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home's honors list.

The list, traditional prerogative of out-going prime ministers, elevates to the House of Lords three Conservative members of Parliament with safe seats.

At least two more byelections will be caused by the list of life peerages expected to be announced by Prime Minister Harold Wilson at the end of the week. He intends to create parliamentary vacancies for Foreign Minister Patrick Gordon Walker and Frank Cousins, minister of technology.

It seems possible all five by-elections will be held the same day—either Jan. 19 or Jan. 21. If so, it will give Britons their first chance to gauge the popularity of the new Labor government since it took office Oct. 16.

Although no upset victories are expected—none of the seats are in any way marginal—pollsters and political pundits will be watching majorities closely to detect signs of a swing to or away from the government.

At the moment, assuming Labor candidates Gordon Walker and Cousins are home and dry, the main interest centres on which of the former Tory MPs who lost their seats in the October election will be given a chance to return to the Commons again.

Presumably leading the queue are former health minister Anthony Barber, former postmaster-general Reginald Bevins and former works minister Geoffrey Rippon.

Also in the running are Maurice Macmillan, former economic secretary of the treasury, One newspaper, The Daily Express, tips Macmillan for the safest seat, East Grinstead, which was retained in the last election by Mrs. Evelyn Emmet with a majority of 14,431. Mrs. Emmet, 65, was given a life peerage.

Macmillan, son of former Tory prime minister Harold Macmillan, has a home in the constituency.

Other Tories given peerages are John Morrison, prominent backbencher, and former power minister Frederick Erroll.

Employees Dismissed Over Wildcat Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 100 employees who left their jobs Friday in a wildcat strike were dismissed Monday by their employer.

The men, members of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (RWDSU), were handed letters informing them of their dismissal when they showed up for work Monday morning.

H. B. R. Kirkpatrick, general manager of McLennan, Mc-

Feely and Prior, Ltd., said the company considered the Friday walkout illegal, so decided to take the dismissal action.

Ray Haynes, union business agent, said he had received a written agreement from the company Friday, after the men walked out, and the workers voted to accept it and return to work.

"The dismissal came as a complete shock," Mr. Haynes said.

Lot of Noise, Some Changes

Associated Press reporter Max Harrelson toured Canada and reported that he found important constitutional changes in store, with separatist sentiments being voiced and ties with the Crown being questioned. This story, second of five, gives an American view of the knotty question of separatism.

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP)—The Quebec separatists are making a lot of noise but most Canadians reject the idea that their 97-year-old confederation is about to fall apart.

It appears almost certain, however, that important constitutional changes will be made in the next few years.

Under pressure from Quebec and other provinces, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson has acknowledged the need for modernizing the constitution. He uses the term "co-operative federalism" to describe the new concept.

This by no means satisfies the French-speaking separatists, but it has won the approval of Quebec Premier Jean Lesage and other leaders of French-Canada.

The most difficult task will be to work out some sort of recognition of the French-speaking minority in Canada—almost one-third of the total population of 19,000,000—without furthering English-Canadians.

The bicultural problem is as old as Canada itself, because of a basic understanding that the French language and French culture would always have a distinct role in the country. The problem, however, emerged as an acute political issue in 1959 when the movement began to attract a following among students and other young people. French-Canadian leaders are divided as to their objectives and, as a result, their cause has been weakened somewhat. The numerous organized groups go all the way from the extremists who advocate terrorism to conservatives who will settle for modest constitutional changes.

In other parts of Canada there are signs of a substantial English backlash as a result of terrorist bombings and separatist demonstrations against Queen Elizabeth. In the west especially, there is a strong tendency to minimize the Quebec situation or even to joke about it.

In a Vancouver restaurant, for example, one Canadian was overheard asking another: "Have you been to Montreal lately?" "No," replied the second. "I hardly ever get out of the country any more."

Dick Sanburn, editor of the Calgary Herald, is one of those who has spoken out against separatism.

"I feel almost certain," he said, "that the rest of Canada has had just about enough of Quebec's spoiled-baby behavior."

Real Caouette, Quebec Social Credit leader, feels just as strongly on the other side.

"There are certain retrograde English-Canadians," Caouette said, "who still believe they are going to assimilate the French-Canadians and make them speak English."

Caouette added that he includes Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker in this category.

Tory Split

Diefenbaker has split with several key Conservatives over the approach to constitutional changes and over the proposed new flag.

One who has differed with Diefenbaker is Ontario Premier John Roberts. The latter said recently: "If changes—even radical changes—are essential to develop a consensus in support of our federal system of government, we are prepared to make them."

Correspondent Gordon Donaldson, writing from Washington for the Toronto Telegram, cautions Canadians not to be too sure that the United States is waiting with open arms to swallow the pieces if Canada disintegrates.

"Mention this to U.S. officials," he said, "and they tremble in horror."

"Who on earth wants an extra half-million unemployed, millions more bushels of unsalable wheat and a whole new race problem?"

There still are some leaders who take the separatists seriously, but Lesage is not one of them. He refers to them as a "small gang of extremists of no importance whatsoever."

Recent public opinion polls indicate Canadians generally agree with him. Only 20 per cent expressed the belief that Quebec might secede from Canada. Only 39 per cent believed such a move would have "very serious" effects on the future of Canada—if it happened.

Nova Scotia's Premier Robert L. Stanfield said in an interview that the attitude in his province was mainly a feeling of impatience.

"I don't think the separatist movement in Quebec is a threat to Confederation," he declared. Stanfield said he favored amendments giving the provinces more autonomy but that the constitution had to see that the small provinces were not dominated by the large ones.

Few political leaders have been as outspoken as Diefenbaker against the proposed changes. He told a recent meeting of the Ontario Conservative Association that the amendments would lead to the "balkanization" of Canada, and that the changes were being pushed by the Liberals simply as a means of getting votes.

"The provinces," he said, "would end up with their own tariff and immigration laws and monetary policy. . . . We can become a loose association of states."

Arthur Mayse

We are being exposed to the annual fuss and fret over war toys, a circumstance which won't prevent fathers from buying, and small boys from playing, with these simulated tools of destruction.

I don't think it should, either; and not even the current spectacle of Mike Pearson beating Canada's sword into a plowshare or something has caused me to alter my view. In fact, were I of an age to indulge such yearnings, I would probably be framing for Santa, about now, a note along these lines:

"I have been a good boy all year, and please bring me a jungle survival kit and a machine gun and a 50-shot slide action repeating air rifle."

Not that I'd have a cat-in-the-hat chance of getting the airgun. My parents' had too much sense.

But, being sensible, they didn't leap to the half-baked conclusion that the kid who hollers 'Bang! You're dead!' is going to grow up with an itch for blood-letting.

He won't, unless he's rendered psychotic by other factors which haven't a thing to do with play-weapons.

This isn't to imply that some of the more artful and elaborate war toys now chilling the ban-al brigade's collective spine don't rate criticism.

For one thing, I don't feel they leave enough to the male child's ingenuity and imagination.

Perhaps this explains why his interest in them tends to evaporate quickly, particularly when he realizes that the high-flown TV advertising which heralded them was for the most part hokum.

Their usual fate, if they survive the hands of kids who regard toys as expendable, is to languish forgotten in some already-bulging storage space after the novelty wears off.

I will not, however, condemn them as foreshadowers of some future war.

Like the bow, the poptop, the cap pistol, they cater to a male affinity for weapons so instinctual that we court trouble when we attempt to squish it.

This fact doesn't deter numbers of well-intentioned but misguided folk from their efforts to abolish anything that remotely resembles a shooting iron.

With a fine, free disregard for consequences, these would outlaw hunting, disarm the hunter, and have the race forget that villainous saltpetre was ever invented.

Yegally, their plot thickens: Its goal a total disarmament. I see it as one facet of a conspiracy aimed at purging the last trace of aggressive tendency from man's nature.

What the weapon-haters choose to overlook, or fail utterly to understand, is that man shorn of aggressive instincts has no chance of achieving a better world.

Like the little Ferdinand in the pleasant little fantasy, he would be content to sit and sniff the blossoms. He'd get nothing done. He and his species would perish from sheer inertia.

It seems to me, in fact, that the demand for men who haven't had their masculinity strangled in apron strings exceeds our present supply.

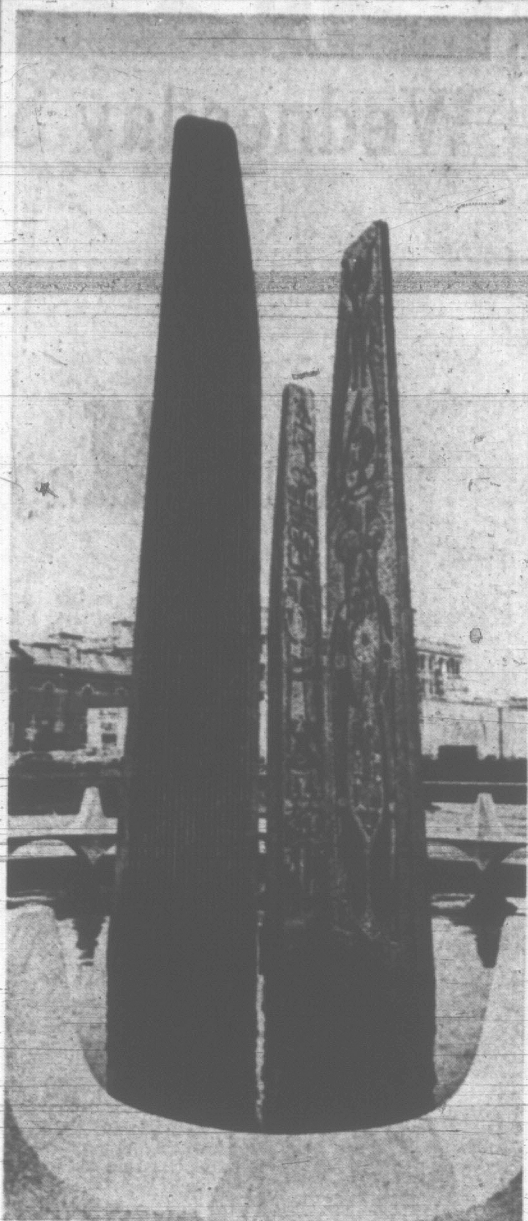

We could use a few in education, and in the church. We need more of them in the newspaper business; and when we're lucky enough to find one with aptitude for our craft, we bring him along speedily as may be.

In politics, this need is very keen. I grow weary of elected representatives whose bleat is, "I am here to carry out the will of the people," when what we hunger for is democratic leadership that offers fit targets for our wrath.

Let the women agitate against play-weapons if they must.

But I hope a father here and another there will continue to remember that he once had a lot of harmless fun with things that go bang, and give his own small son a chance to do likewise.

Even if they drum him out of the PTA for it!

PUPIL-TEACHER

PTAs Pressing For 30-1 Ratio

A reduction in the size of classrooms by eight pupils was sought in a brief by the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation presented to the provincial cabinet recently.

The request was contained in a resolution urging a reduction from the present ratio of 38 pupils to one teacher.

The federation said the department of education's official ratio should be 30-1.

This resolution was sponsored by six different parent-teacher associations, the brief said. "That fact shows the continuing interest which is being taken in this problem."

SALARY GRANTS

Other points in the brief suggested:

Provincial salary grants for staff psychologists in schools; An increase in provincial grants for driver training in schools;

Federal legislation to restrict cigarette advertising in the same manner as liquor advertising and support from provincial departments through distribution of anti-smoking literature in the schools;

A survey of existing home economics and guidance courses to ensure that high-school students "are adequately prepared for the responsibilities of parenthood";

Encouragement for at least a pilot course in high school to help students acquire "important concepts for child care and family life" as future parents;

French to be taught in English-speaking schools starting in the early grades and English to be taught in the early grades at French-speaking schools;

The University of Victoria and University of B.C. should reconsider recent decisions to increase tuition fees; Establishment of stronger vocational guidance programs in B.C. schools and appointment of a provincial director in this field.

Barnyard 'Zoo' Ruled Out For Beacon Hill

City parks committee today decided against Beacon Hill Park as a proposed site of a kiddies' barnyard zoo.

The idea was supported by Ald. M. H. Moore, who argued that the deer pens could be converted.

Parks superintendent Herb Warren, Mayor R. B. Wilson, and aldermen A. W. Toone and Geoffrey Edgelow agreed that an outside area, such as Beaver or Elk Lakes, would be more suitable and that Beacon Hill Park should be perpetuated as a primarily horticultural park.

A 1963 report by Mr. Warren suggested $25,000 could be the cost of developing a children's zoo at Beacon Hill. But because of soil poisoning, the deer pen area could not support more than the few deer and a horse now kept there.

$25,000 Gift To Universities From Paint Firm

The tri-universities capital fund was given another large boost today when a cheque for $25,000 was received from the BAPCO Paint Co.

Corporate and personal gifts have all been double what they were in the previous drive, said F. A. Fairclough when he announced the most recent contribution.

Vancouver Island objective for the three public universities—University of Victoria, UBC and Simon Fraser—is $2,000,000. To date a total of $120,000 has been raised in Victoria from advance gifts.

Women Arrange Election Talks

An all-candidates meeting for Esquimalt council candidates will be held in Jubilee Hall on Fraser Street Dec. 10 at 8 p.m.

Organized by the Association of Women Electors, it will give the five would-be councillors a chance to state their views on controversial subjects and to say what their aims will be if elected.

CENTENNIAL SQUARE FOUNTAIN DEDICATED TODAY

A Rugged Yet Sophisticated Symbol

By AB KENT

A cascading fountain and triple monolith sparkling under colored lights becomes the new symbol of Victoria today as switches are flicked in Victoria Centennial Square.

City and municipal representatives were to gather at 5:30 p.m. for formal dedication of the fountain—focal point of the square and gift to the city from Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Although the 40-foot pond, its curvilinear sculptured concrete ring and monoliths themselves are striking, it is the mosaic in Italian glass on three concave faces of the concrete uprights that is likely to hold the attention.

This artistry was conceived by provincial public works department employee Jack Wilkinson to depict three fundamental phases in "every man's" life.

It is described by Roderick Clack, special projects consultant and designer of the fountain and square, as a totemic representation of environment.

Mr. Wilkinson said the first column is youth, or growth, incorporating youthful figures and a school shield (drawn from University of Victoria).

The second column depicts creation or procreation, with a symbolized mother and fetus-child forms.

Third panel—tallest of the three—represents morality or man's struggle against evil. In this mosaic are a symbolized armored figure and slain dragon, crowned by a sunburst, symbolizing the diety.

Application of the shimmering, golden mosaic tiles, with other colors kept to a minimum, combines bas relief and intaglio relief in a manner unique to Victoria.

Their glistening smoothness

contrasts with the rippling, roughened concrete aggregate on the convex face of each monolith.

Each column is set individually in a river-stone base lying just beneath the surface of the pond.

Into the base are set the colored floodlights that will shine upward onto the mosaic and illuminate the fountain jets with amber glow.

Mr. Clack said the illumination silhouettes the sculptured ring and lends strong visual impact at the centre of the square.

"This is not a timid fountain design. It is rugged, yet its sophisticated strength is perhaps indicative of that transitory stage of community growth into maturity now being experienced and commemorated," Mr. Clack said.

Hearing Date Set on Dec. 21 For Hankinson

Former city car dealer George K. Hankinson was remanded again to Dec. 21 when he appeared in city police court today.

Hankinson is charged with conferring unlawful benefits on G. E. P. Jones, suspended B.C. government purchasing commissioner.

Hankinson this morning was represented by J. Alan Baker. At the Dec. 21 appearance, a date will be set for a preliminary hearing into the charge.

CAR DEALS

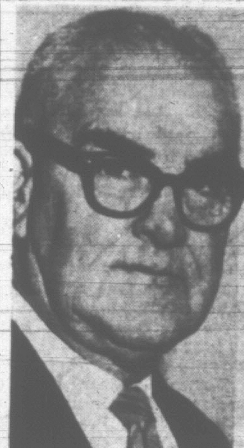

Hankinson is charged with conferring a benefit of $1,577 on Jones in the purchase of a car last year, and of selling him another car early this year at less than cost.

Vancouver criminal lawyer Hugh McGivern, QC, is slated to defend Jones when his trial opens Dec. 10 in County Court here.

T. P. O'Grady, of Victoria, who represented Mr. Jones at the preliminary hearing, said he was still retained as solicitor for Mr. Jones but not as a barrister at the trial.

He made the explanation to clear up a misunderstanding when it was reported he would not appear at the trial and that several lawyers had been approached but declined for various reasons.

"I have not ceased to act for Mr. Jones but there is a subtle distinction between solicitor and barrister and it is in the former capacity that I am engaged," said Mr. O'Grady.

GEORGE LINDSAY ... "top administrator."

Vehicle Boss To Retire At Year-End

Motor vehicles superintendent George Lindsay will retire from government service Dec. 31.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced today.

He will be succeeded by his deputy, Ray Hadfield.

Mr. Lindsay, who is 63, entered government service with the old B.C. Provincial Police after serving as a North Vancouver city policeman from 1930 to 1934.

After 11 years in the provincial force, he shifted to the motor vehicles branch in 1945 and worked up through various positions until he was appointed superintendent Oct. 1, 1952.

ANCHOR MAN

"George Lindsay has been an outstanding administrator and one of the anchor-men of the attorney-general's department," the announcement said.

Mr. Hadfield, who is 49, joined the branch in 1932 at the age of 17 when it was still a division of the provincial police.

Works Plan Revision Still Irks

Victoria Community Welfare Council's recent juvenile delinquency report will be cited by city council in renewed plea for a better winter works deal from the provincial government.

The city's public works committee today recommended inter-municipal committee endorse its stand that the original spirit of winter works assistance is being denied by the provincial government.

A revision of provincial standards for granting municipalities winter works aid states that only employees who have been on welfare for three months may qualify a project for the provincial share.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said: "We feel the intent of winter works aid was not only for those on welfare, but to relieve those recently unemployed and about to go on welfare."

The committee recommended endorsement of a Union of B.C. Municipalities' policy on winter works, in which UBCM president Peter Jenevoin reported a discussion with Premier Bennett.

Gist of the conversation was that the province never intended winter works aid for municipalities and that no encouragement was given UBCM's protests.

PRESSURE

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said the city should "bring more pressure on the government. There are many on welfare who are unemployed, but this shouldn't work a hardship on those who are trying to get a job."

He said much of the juvenile delinquency is attributable to unemployment.

"The problem is as simple as this: youths of 17-22 who haven't the privilege of going to university are out of work, can't get a job and are therefore a problem to society."

WHY WAIT?

"Do they have to be on welfare before we recognize them, or do we wait until they do something against society and we put them in jail?" Ald. Edgelow asked.

Ald. A. W. Toone suggested the government "live up to spirit of the winter works incentive program." Living up to the new provincial policy only increases the hard core of unemployment, he said.

The three-month provision is ridiculous, Ald. Edgelow pointed out. For persons just out of a job and going on welfare to wait that long means winter is over.

Broken Leg, Arm Suffered In Hit-Run

City police today were still seeking the driver of a car that was in collision with a pedestrian on Cook Street Monday night.

The pedestrian, Mrs. Lillian Holmes, 63, of 1009 Cook Street, was in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today.

She suffered arm and leg fractures.

City police found her lying in the roadway about 15 feet north of a crosswalk at Cook and Rockland.

An eyewitness told police Mrs. Holmes was in the crosswalk and nearing the centre line when she was hit.

The car stopped briefly, then left, police were told.

The northbound car was described as a two-tone model, with the bottom half buff and the top light.

She's Mistletoe Bait If Wearing These!

By PENNY SAVER

Penny took a private poll of several members of the younger generation to find out what they'd like for Christmas. The almost unanimous choice among the young ladies was clothes, clothes, clothes! I am passing this information along to mothers in case they have been stymied for a gift for a teen-age girl. I also found some gift suggestions to please any fashionable young lady.

Browsing through one store, I found a sweater which will make any girl feel like a "teen queen"—on campus or off. These are of a "skinny rib" knit of orlon and nylon and can be washed without fear of shrinking or stretching. Sweaters feature a turtle neckline and long sleeves and are close fitting. And colors! You name 'em and they have them. These are an ideal topping for a plaid or tweed skirt or slacks. Price is $13.95.

Sweaters can be tied with a kid belt which sells for $2.95. These match the color of the sweater and also come in black or beige. Belts are ideal for accenting shift dresses or jumpers, too.

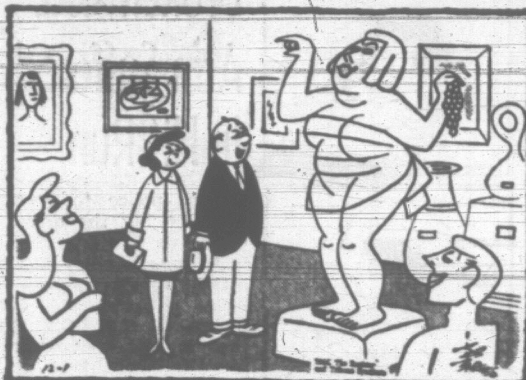

One of the most popular items in a girl's wardrobe this year is knee-length stockings. The ones Penny discovered cover the knee and are of a heavy knit. Patterns match and contrast with the sweaters or you can get stockings in a solid tone. Prices range from $2 to $3.50.

A smart, practical accessory for a casual or school outfit is a Grecian shoulder bag. Woollen bags are woven in Greece and are large enough to hold all the paraphernalia prevalent in girls' purses these days, but still not bulky. Bags are gaily patterned with a maze of color with one tone dominating to be matched with a coat or skirt and sweater outfit. The cost is only $4.95.

Make a young girl's eyes light up like a Christmas tree with these gifts on Dec. 25. Penny's number is 382-3131.

THE BETTER HALF

"Here's a guy who had the right idea, but laid down his chest a few pounds too soon."

DEAR ABBY...

Meow!!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I received a clipping from your column in this morning's mail. It was about a neighbor who had a houseful of cats. The house smelled to high heaven, there were cat hairs all over the furniture and the place was filthy.

Well, I used to be that person because I do have a houseful of cats, but I would like to say something:

Half of these cats are not mine! It seems that when anyone in this town wants to get rid of a cat, or some new-born kittens, they drop them off in my yard because they know I love cats and I will give them a good home. I called the Humane Society once to come and pick up some cats that weren't mine. They came out, but were unable to catch them. Now, if you can tell me how to get rid of the cats that are not mine, I will be glad to do so.

CAT LOVER IN PHOENIX
DEAR ABBY: There are worse people than cat-lovers, you know. I am referring to people who tear something out of a newspaper and mail it to someone without signing their name. Someone mailed me your column. In it was a letter about a neighbor who lived alone except for a houseful of cats. They said the house stank, the furniture was filthy, there were cat hairs all over the place and that was the reason nobody ever wanted to visit the woman. They went on to say that the woman herself was a very nice person and that they didn't want to hurt her feelings by telling her. Well, Abby, in the first place, I do not have a "houseful" of cats. I have only 16. In the second place, if I wanted company I would invite them. I do not miss people. My cats are better friends to me than any of my neighbors.

LOVES CATS IN CHARLOTTE, N.C.

DEAR ABBY: Somebody wanted to be sure I didn't miss that letter in your column about the lady who kept a lot of cats, so they tore it out of the Chicago American and mailed it to me. I wasn't fooled for a minute. I know who sent it. She's a neighbor of mine who loves birds. Tell her to sweep her own doorstep first. At least my cats know what a sandbox is for. She lets her birds out of their cages and they fly all over her house! Then she burns incense to cover up the odor. When?

TO THE BIRD LADY FROM THE CAT LADY.
DEAR ABBY: Please put this in your column for the neighbor who complained about my cats, but didn't want to "hurt my feelings." My house is as clean as any house in this neighborhood, and my cats do not smell! Of all the house pets, the cat is by far the cleanest. If my neighbors were as clean as my cats, I'd be satisfied. If you think you can get me to move, you are sadly mistaken. I was here first, and if you don't like having me for a neighbor, you can move!

MINDING MY OWN BUSINESS IN MADISON.

DEAR ABBY: I read about that woman who collected cats and the neighbors complained. She sounds like my mother. Did that letter come from Victoria, Texas?

WILLIE MAE IN CLEVELAND.

DEAR WILLIE MAE: No. It came from Baltimore, Maryland.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 63700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

It will be back to the "good old days" Saturday when strolling carollers don Old World costumes for a carol tea, to be sponsored by the Centennial United Church Women. Seen practising some of the old favorites are, left to right, Mrs. D. A. Kerr, Mrs. T. W. Turner and Mrs. J. W. Birtwistle. Guest soloist will be Margaret Christison. Affair will be held in the Howard Harris Building, David Street, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Extra features will include a home cooking stall and nursery for small children.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There's no doubt that a sweet tooth is the downfall of many a would-be reducer. These folks crave sweets like an alcoholic does a drink. Most of all they usually long for chocolate.

A letter before me again calls this fact to my attention. It says, in part, "I am overweight and need to lose 15 pounds. I am always good about a diet for about two weeks and then I eat candy like it was going out of production. I wake up at 6 a.m. and go into the living room and eat three or four pieces of chocolate candy. Then I dress and put the coffee on. Then back to the living room for more candy. This goes on day after day, all day."

"I do fine on my diet except for candy. Don't tell me not to buy any because I sneak it like a drunk does a drink. My doctor says that there's nothing wrong, that it is just in my mind. I wish it were just in my mind but it is in my hand and then in my mouth and then in my stomach and then ON my stomach."

I think many reducers make a mistake to leave all sugar out of the diet. That is probably one reason for craving candy. A teaspoon of sugar has only 15 calories and if you enjoy it in coffee, have some. Of course you cannot do this if you drink many cups a day.

A couple of small pieces of hard candy after lunch and dinner, allowed to melt in the mouth, will help calm that craving. Of course the important thing to remember is that the sweet, or candy habit, is a very strong one. The only way to break any habit is to practice NOT indulging in it. After a comparatively short time you will no longer be harassed by it.

McCOY-JOHNSTON WEDDING

Bride Wears Locket for 'Something Old'

An heirloom locket that had belonged to her great-grandmother was "something old" worn by Margery Ellen Johnston, Saturday evening, when she became the bride of Dennis Keith McCoy.

She wore a gown of white sheer nylon over satin, styled with a lace-trimmed bodice and full hooped skirt. The bodice and skirt were highlighted with sequins. Tiny bows accented the folds of the skirt which created back fullness. A veil misted to her waist from a headpiece of flowers and she carried a cascade bouquet of red and white carnations.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Johnston, 3572 Richmond Avenue, and the late Mr. and Mrs. W. McCoy of Victoria. Mr. Johnston gave his daughter in marriage.

ST. AIDAN'S CHURCH

White and gold chrysanthemums decorated St. Aidan's United Church for the ceremony at which Rev. A. G. MacLeod officiated. Organist was Mrs. Vera Barclay.

Full-skirted gowns of gold brocade were the choice of maid of honor, Miss Iona Mawdsley, and bridesmaid, Miss Zenith Mawdsley. Headpieces were toning pill boxes, edged with veiling and their jewelry was culture pearl necklaces, gift of the bride. They carried colonial bouquets of white and rust-toned carnations. Jack Budynski was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Ronald and Gordon Johnston, brothers of the bride.

James Bradshaw proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held in the Dominion Hotel. A three-tier wedding cake, flanked by pink candles and red carnations, centred the bride's table.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip on the mainland, the couple will make their home at 1454 Begbie Street. For travelling, the bride donned a brown crepe dress, topped with a toning coat. A beige and brown hat and yellow rose corsage completed her ensemble.

2nd Debut for Mother

From Germany—
The "Wiesbaden Discovery" that Makes
Older Faces Look Younger

WIESBADEN, GERMANY—April 29—News has leaked out concerning a carefully guarded top secret discovery by a small but important group of skin physiologists. Scientific authority has it that a way is now known whereby facial skin is made to quickly gain an appearance of fresh, smooth youthfulness it hasn't had in years. Facial lines, around the eyes, and the throat crepey-ness that so deeply mark the pace of unwanted birthdays are said to move or less "get lost" as this water beneath the skin's surface pushes them out of sight. While this research was not conducted in the interest of beauty, it appears that new happiness for millions of unhappy women is a real, though honestly not intended, result. By special arrangement with the discoverers of this technique, a semi-lotion has been formulated which makes home application of the Wiesbaden discovery easy, pleasant and effective. The name of this preparation is 2ND DEBUT.

They are so greatly reduced...often vanish completely. Face and neck look younger again. Results are startling...and long lasting. 2nd Debut gives a lifting effect you can actually see...or return for refund.

$25,000 Given Porch Light Kiwanis Drive

Kiwanis Villa got a $25,000 boost from the people of Greater Victoria Monday night.

That was the amount raised by 1,500 canvassers who braved the cold and rain to take part in Kiwanis Village Society's annual porch light campaign.

And all being well, officials hope to receive nearly $5,000 more in the next few days.

The money is used for extensions to Kiwanis Villa, an apartment-type home for elderly people.

At present a $215,000 extension project is under way at the Villa which will increase the number of residents to 78.

In addition it will provide better dining and kitchen facilities, 26 bed-sitting rooms, washrooms, staff lockers, a lounge for craft work and a "quiet" room.

'VERY HAPPY'

Said society president William J. Lyle: "We're very happy with the way money is coming in."

"Several areas were missed Monday and anyone who wishes to make a donation can send the money to us at 217 Scollard Building, Douglas Street."

The society hopes to top last year's collection figure of $29,200.

Assisting in Monday's campaign were four Kiwanis clubs in the area, University of Victoria students and student nurses from both hospitals.

Flower Festival Scheduled April 12 to 19

Next year's Spring Flower Festival will be held April 12-19, tourist leaders agreed Monday night.

The festival was timed to run into Easter. Last year it started March 27.

The meeting of the tourist industry group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce also agreed to send a committee to see Mayor R. B. Wilson about a possible contribution to the Scottish pipe and flower girl tourist attractions at the Inner Harbor.

The Chamber of Commerce paid the $200 cost of wages and dresses for the flower girl last year but would have to "take a long look" before doing the same next year, said Pat Frumento.

10,000 COPIES

The Christmas calendar of events was circulated. It lists a number of events from Dec. 13 to Dec. 31 in a folded sheet. Some 10,000 copies will be distributed throughout the north-west.

Norman Loomer sought support for a $10,000 brochure, to promote a convention centre here. His associates are looking for 20 men to put up $500 each so the brochure outlining plans can go ahead.

He hopes to combine the Dominion and Plaza theatres to make the centre.

English Visit Puts Stratford Festival In 'Red'

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—The Stratford Festival Company's visit to Chichester, England, this year put it $5,728 in the red.

The company had a net loss of $37,635 during three weeks in England in April for celebrations of the 400th anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare, it was announced Monday night.

The company had a $51,966 net profit on its 12th season in Canada, the annual meeting of the board of governors of the Stratford Shakespearean Festival Foundation was told.

This was the second largest profit in festival history, said administrative director Victor Polley. In 1960, the festival made a profit of $64,308.

BLACKOUT OF MOVIES HITS S.F. MERCHANTS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Downtown merchants are feeling the pinch of a labor dispute that has kept two-thirds of San Francisco's movie houses closed for nearly three weeks.

Hard hit by the theatre shutdown that has cut sharply into the number of people visiting the downtown area each night are restaurants and bookstores, cigar stands and taverns.

A walkout by projectionists at the Coronet Theatre Nov. 13 triggered the shutdown. The projectionists were protesting failure of the theatre owners to present a new contract.

400 Entranced By Singing Group

By PETER MATTHEWS

The Barclay Singers charmed a crowd of more than 400 Monday night at Oak Bay Junior High School.

Children's groups ranging in age from five to 14 years, augmented by the Ladies' Choir of 25 voices, moved from opera to folk songs, from spirituals to Broadway.

There were four choral groups, a quartet, a duet, seven vocal soloists and a piano soloist on the program. There were no dull spots.

The Ladies' Choir gave close attention to detail in their Gay Is the Rose. The primary and junior choirs joined in happy renditions of The Swing and What Say You. The audience said "bravo."

BRIGHT, POSITIVE

Una Gwynne's Tomorrow by the Intermediate choir was bright and positive. The harmony of Mary Dillabaugh and Anita Loudon was smooth and filled with rich contrasts.

Soloist Sharon Dale gave an exceptional performance with Spring's Awakening. Rosa Robertson drew praise from the choral director Vera Barclay for her Mad Scene from Lucia di Lammermoor. Male soloists Bob Hotner and Allan Husband also were singled out for special attention.

Solo pianist Barbara Pridham performed with confidence and warmth.

Charles Wood's cantata, Eden Spirits, by Kathleen Paulin and accompanist James Saunders, was the skilful highlight of the second half of the program.

The following presentations were made:

Three Little Pigs at Willows, Sooke Elementary, Oaklands, Uplands Elementary, St. Ann's Academy, Esquimalt High, Royal Oak, Sidney and Cordova Bay.

Scenes from Shakespeare's Henry IV, Julius Caesar, Romeo and Juliet and Macbeth at Belmont, Elizabeth Fisher School, Edward Milne, North Saanich, Central Junior High, St. Ann's Academy, Mount View, Norfolk House, Qualicum Beach, Port Alberni, St. Margaret's, Oak Bay Senior Secondary, S. J. Willis, Claremont and Esquimalt Senior Secondary.

The Bastion Theatre Studio will present Trapped or Sylvester Saves the Day, a comedy with music, at Oak Bay Junior Secondary School auditorium, Dec. 5 at 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

DELEGATION TO SEE THEATRE MANAGER

Gosley Convinces Tourist Leaders

Tourist leaders will visit McPherson Theatre manager Robert Ellison this week about the bookings wrangle.

The tourist industry group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce passed a motion Monday night that a delegation visit him and sell him on the tourist attractiveness of Gerry Gosley's Smile Show.

The action came after a number of persons said the group shouldn't tell Mr. Ellison how to run the theatre.

Mr. Gosley outlined the background of his application for an eight-week booking at the civic theatre.

He has applied for July and the first week of August. The next four weeks are booked by the Festival Theatre Society for a summer festival.

"All I am asking for is a reasonable run at a reasonable time," he said. "I am prepared to cut down to a month."

He would be satisfied if he got the period he has applied for, but "I don't think I will get the five weeks."

He didn't think he could afford to be in competition with the playhouse.

Tourist leaders agreed the Smile Show is a prime tourist attraction which should be kept alive in Victoria.

But they agreed with visitor's bureau commissioner Alan Maclean who said the tourist industry group shouldn't tell Mr. Ellison what to do.

"He stands or falls on his own decisions," he said.

While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks

While shepherds watched their flocks by night,
All seated on the ground,
The Angel of the Lord came down,
And glory shone around.
"Fear not," said he, for mighty dread
Had seized their troubled mind;
"Glad tidings of great joy I bring
To you and all mankind."

To you, in David's town, this day
Is born of David's line
A Saviour, who is Christ the Lord;
And this shall be the sign.
"The heavenly Babe you there shall find
To human view displayed,
All meanly wrapped in swathing bands,
And in a manger laid."

Thus spake the seraph, and forthwith
Appeared a shining throng
Of angels, praising God, who thus Addressed their joyful song:
"All glory be to God on high,
And to the earth be peace;
Goodwill henceforth, from heaven to men
Begin and never cease."

It Came Upon The Midnight Clear

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth
To touch their harps of gold;
"Peace on the earth, good-will to men,
From heaven's all-gracious King."
The world in solemn silence lay,
While the angels sang:
"To hear the angels sing:
Still through the cloven skies they come
And still their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lowly plains
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel-sounds
The blessed angels sing."

Yet with the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
Beneath the angel-strain have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And men, at war with men, hear not
The words of peace they bring;
O hush the noise, ye men of strife,
And hear the angels sing.
And ye, beneath life's crushing load,
Whose forms are bending low,
Who toil along the arduous way
With painful step and slow:
Look now, for glad and joyous hours
God's messengers will bring:
O rest beside the weary road
And hear the angels sing.
For lo! The days are hastening on,
By prophet-bards foretold,
When with the ever circling years
Comes around the age of gold;
When peace shall cover all the earth
Its ancient splendours fling,
And the whole world send back the song
Which now the angels sing.

O Come, All Ye Faithful

O come all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant,
Come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem;
Come and behold Him,
Born the King of Angels:

Refrain
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord.

True God of true God,
Light of light eternal,
Lo, He abhors not the Virgin's womb.

Son of the Father,
Begotten, not created,
Sing choirs of angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heaven above,
Sing, ye all glory
To God in the highest!

Yea, Lord we hail Thee,
Born this happy morning;
Jesus, to Thee be glory given,
Word of the Father,
Now in flesh appearing.

Hark, The Herald Angels Sing

Hark! The herald angels sing,
"Glory to the newborn King;
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled."
Joyful all ye nations rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With angelic hosts proclaim,
"Christ is born in Bethlehem."

Refrain

Hark! The herald angels sing,
"Glory to the newborn King;
Christ, by highest heaven adored,
Christ, the everlasting Lord;
Late in time behold Him come,
Offspring of a Virgin's womb;
Veiled in flesh the Godhead see;
Hail the incarnate Deity.
Pleased as man with man to dwell,
Jesus, our Emmanuel.
Hail the heaven-born Prince of Peace,
Hail the Sun of Righteousness,
Light and life to all He brings,
Risen with healing in His wings,
Mild He lays His glory by,
Born that man no more may die,
Born to raise the sons of earth,
Born to give them second birth."

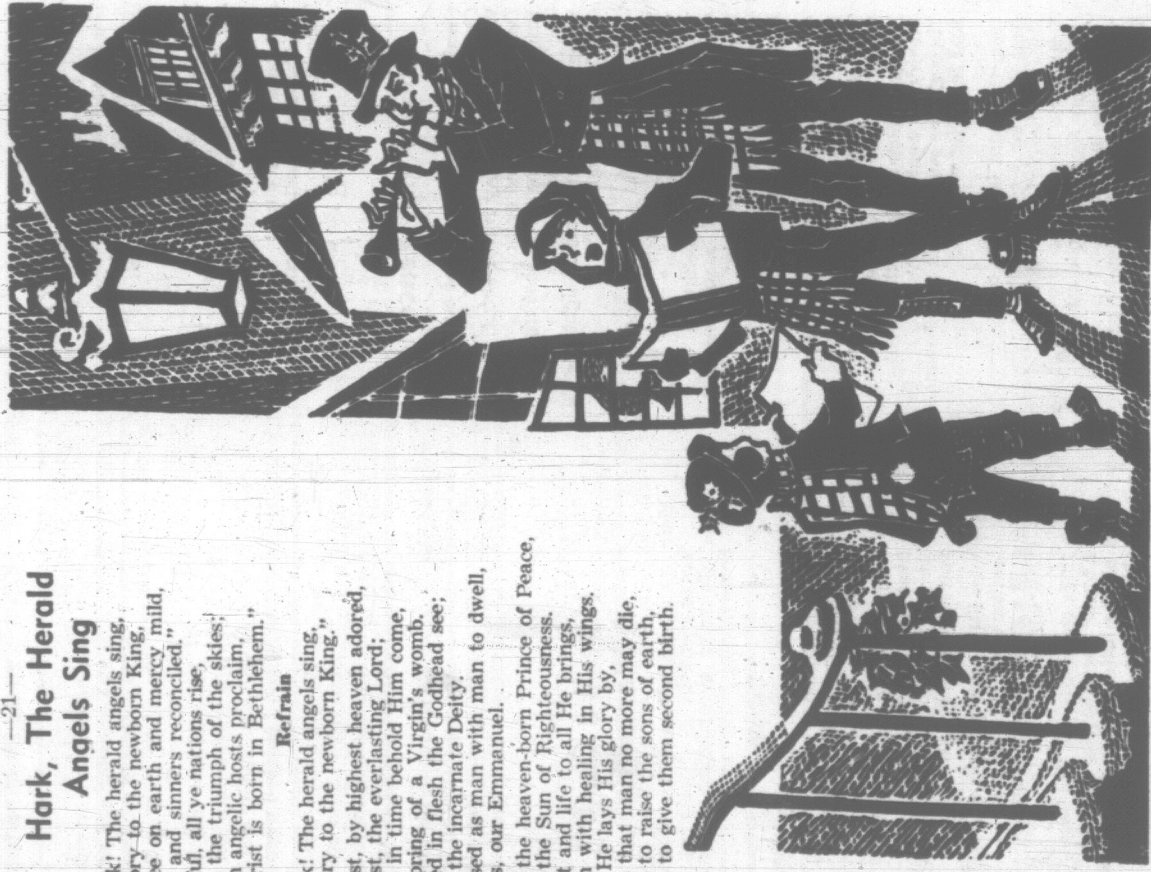

Angels From The Realms of Glory

Angels from the realms of glory,
Wing your flight o'er all the earth;
Ye who sang creation's story,
Now proclaim Messiah's birth:
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Shepherds in the field abiding,
Watching o'er your flocks by night,
God with shines in now residing,
Yonder shines the infant light:
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Sages, leave your contemplations,
Brighter visions beam afar;
Seek the great desire of nations,
Ye have seen His natal star:
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Saints before the altar bending,
Watching long in hope and fear,
Suddenly the Lord descending,
In His temple shall appear:
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the newborn King.

Silent Night

Silent night! Holy night!
All is calm, all is bright;
Round yon virgin mother and child,
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent night! Holy night!
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heavenly hosts sing Alleluia,
Christ, the Saviour is born!
Christ, the Saviour is born!

Silent night! Holy night!
Son of God, love's pure light,
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord at Thy birth.

The First Nowel

The first Nowel the angels did say,
Was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay:
In fields where they lay keeping their sheep,
On a cold winter's night, that was so deep.

Refrain:
Nowel, Nowel, Nowel, Nowel,
Born is the King of Israel.

They looked up and saw a star
Shining in the East beyond their far,
And to the earth it gave great light,
And so it continued both day and night.
And by the light of that same star
Three wise men came from country far;
To seek for a King was their intent,
And to follow the star wherever it went.

This star drew nigh to the northwest,
O'er Bethlehem it took its rest,
And there it did both stop and stay
Right over the place where Jesus lay.

Then entered in those wise men three
Full reverently upon their knee,
And offered there in his presence
Their gold and myrrh and frankincense.
Then let us all with one accord
Sing praises to our heavenly Lord;
That hath made heaven and earth of nought,
And with His blood mankind hath bought.

Away In A Manger

Away in a manger, no crib for a bed,
The little Lord Jesus laid down his sweet head;
The stars in the bright sky looked down
where He lay,
The little Lord Jesus, asleep on the hay.

The cattle are lowing, the Baby awakes;
But little Lord Jesus no crying He makes;
I love Thee, Lord Jesus; look down from the sky,
And stay by my side until morning is nigh.

Be near me, Lord Jesus, I ask Thee to stay
Close by me forever and love me, I pray;
Bless all the dear children in Thy tender care,
And fit us for heaven to live with Thee
there.

Adeste Fidelis

(Latin Text—English, No. 20)

Adeste, fideles,
Laeti, triumphantes;
Venite, venite in Bethlehem;
Natum videte
Regem angelorum.

Refrain
Venite adoremus, venite
adoremus, venite adoremus Dominum.

Lumen de Deo,
Gestant puellae viscera:
Deum verum,
Genitum non factum.
Cantat nunc in Chorus angelorum,
Cantat nunc aula coelestium;
Gloria!

In excelsis Deo!
Ego qui natus
O'er Bethlehem,
Jesus, tibi sit gloria;
Patris aeterni,
Verbum caro factum.

O Little Town Of Bethlehem

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie,
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light,
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.

For Christ is born of Mary,
And gathered all above,
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wondering love,
O morning stars, together
Proclaim the holy birth,
And praises sing of God the King,
And peace to men on earth.

How silently, how silently,
The wondrous gift is given,
So God imparts to human hearts
The blessings of His heaven,
No ear may hear His coming,
But in this world of sin,
Where meek souls will receive him still,
The dear Christ enters in.

O Holy Child of Bethlehem,
Descend to us, we pray;
Cast out our sin and enter in;
Be born in us today,
We hear the Christmas angels
The great glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord, Emmanuel.

Christians, Awake!

Christians; awake, salute the happy morn
Whereon the Saviour of the world was born:
Rise to adore the mystery of love,
Which hosts of angels chanted from above:
With them the joyful tidings first began.
Of God incarnate and the Virgin's Son.
Then to the watchful shepherds it was told,
Who heard the angelic herald's voice,
"Behold,
"I bring good tidings of a Saviour's birth!"
"To you and all the nations upon the earth!"
"This day hath God fulfilled His promised word;
"This day is born a Saviour, Christ the Lord."

To both them straight the enlightened shepherds ran,
To see the wonders God had wrought for man;
Then to their flocks, still praising God, return,
And their glad hearts with holy rapture burn;
To all the joyful tidings they proclaim—
The first apostles of the Saviour's name.
Oh, may we keep and ponder in our mind
God's wondrous love in saving-lost mankind;
Trace we the Babe, who has retrieved our loss,
From the poor manger to the bitter cross;
Tread in His steps, assisted by His grace,
Till man's first heavenly state again takes place.
Then may we hope the angelic hosts among,
To join, redeemed, a glad, triumphant throng;
He that was born upon this joyful day
Around us all his glory shall display.
Saved by His love, incessant we shall sing
Eternal praise to heaven's almighty King.

Brightest And Best
Dawn on our darkness and lend us Thine aid!
Star of the East, horizon adorning,
Guide where our infant Redeemer is laid.
Cold on His cradle the dewdrops are shining,
Low lies His head with the beasts of the stall;
Angels adore Him in slumber reclining—
Maker and Monarch and Saviour of all!
Say, shall we wield Him, in costly devotion
Odors of Fdrom and offerings divine?
Gems of the mountains and pearls of the ocean,
Myrrh from the forest and gold from the mine?
Vainly we offer each ample oblation,
Richer by far is the heart's adoration:
Dearest to God are the prayers of the poor.
Brightest and best of the sons of the morning,
Dawn on our darkness and lend us Thine aid!
Star of the East, the horizon adorning,
Guide where our infant Redeemer is laid!

Infant Holy
Infant holy, infant lowly,
For His bed, a cattle stall;
Oxen lowing, little knowing
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.
Swift are winging, angels singing,
Nowels ringing, tidings bringing,
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.
Flocks were sleeping, shepherds keeping
Vigil till the morning new,
Saw the glory, heard the story,
Tidings of a gospel true.
Thus rejoicing, free from sorrow,
Praises voicing, greet the morn,
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.

God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen
God rest you merry, gentlemen,
Let nothing you dismay.
Remember Christ your Saviour
Was born upon this day,
To save us all from Satan's power
When we were gone astray.
Refrain:
O tidings of comfort and joy,
O tidings of comfort and joy.
In Bethlehem, in Jewry,
This blessed Babe was born,
And laid within a manger;
Upon this blessed morn:
The which His mother Mary
Did nothing take in scorn.
From God our Heavenly Father,
A blessed angel came,
And unto certain shepherds
Brought tidings of the same:
How that in Bethlehem was born
The Son of God by name.
"Fear not then," said the angel,
"For nothing you affright,
This day is born a Saviour
Of a pure Virgin bright.
To free all those who trust in Him,
From Satan's power and might."
The shepherds, at those tidings,
Rejoiced much in mind,
And left their flocks a-feeding
In tempest, storm and wind:
And went to Bethlehem straightway
The Son of God to find.
And when they came to Bethlehem,
Where our dear Saviour lay,
They found Him in a manger,
Where oxen feed on hay;
His mother, Mary, kneeling down,
Unto the Lord did pray,
Now to the Lord sing praises,
All you within this place,
And with true love and brotherhood
Each other now embrace:
This holy tide of Christmas
All other doth efface.

What Child Is This?
(Tune—Greenleaves)
What child is this, who, laid to rest
On Mary's lap is sleeping?
Whom angels greet with anthems sweet
While shepherds watch are keeping.
Refrain:
This, this is Christ the King,
Whom shepherds guard and angels sing,
Haste, haste to bring Him in,
The Babe, the son of Mary.
Why lies he in such mean estate?
Where ox and ass are feeding?
Good Christian, fear for sinners here,
The silent word is pleading.
So bring him incense, gold and myrrh,
Come peasant, king and own him,
The King of Kings salvation brings,
Let loving hearts enthrone him.

We Three Kings
We three kings of Orient are Bearing gifts; we traverse afar
Field and fountain, moor and mountain
Following yonder star.
Refrain
O star of wonder, star of night,
Star with royal beauty bright,
Westward leading, still proceeding,
Guide us to the perfect light.
Solo (Melchior)
Born a King of Bethlehem's plain,
Gold I bring to crown Him again,
King forever, ceasing never,
Over us all to reign.
Solo (Casper)
Frankincense to offer have I,
Incense owns a Deity nigh;
Prayer and Praise, all men raising,
Worship Him, God most high.
Solo (Balthazar)
Myrrh is mine; its bitter perfume
Breathes a life of gathering gloom;
Sorrowing, sighing, bleeding, dying,
Sealed in the stone-cold tomb.
Glorious now behold Him arise,
King and God and Sacrifice;
Alleluia, alleluia,
Earth to heaven replies.

Infant Christmas
I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
Just like the ones I used to know
Where the trees are all glistening
And children listen to hear sleigh bells in the snow.
I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
With every Christmas card I write
"May your days be merry and bright
And may all your Christmases be white."
Jingle Bells
Dashing thro' the snow,
In a one-horse open sleigh;
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way;
Bells on bobtail ring,
Making spirits bright;
What fun it is to ride and sing a sleighing song tonight!
Chorus:
Jingle bells, jingle bells,
Jingle all the way!
Oh, what fun it is to ride,
In a one-horse open sleigh!
A day or two ago,
I thought I'd take a ride;
And soon Miss Fannie Bright was seated by my side;
The horse was lean and lank,
Misfortune seem'd his lot,
He got into a drifted bank,
And then we got upsot!
Now the ground is white,
Go it while you're young;
Take the girls tonight
And sing this sleighing song;
Just get a bobtail'd nag,
Two-forty for his speed,
Then hitch him to an open sleigh
And crack! you'll take the lead.
Good King Wenceslas
Good King Wenceslas looked out
On the Feast of Stephen,
When the snow lay round about,
Deep and crisp and even;
Brightly shone the moon that night,
Tho' the frost was cruel,
When a poor man came in sight,
Gath'ring winter fuel.
"Hither, page and stand by me,
If you know'st it, telling,
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what his dwelling?"
"Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain;
Right against the forest fence,
By St. Agnes' fountain."
"Bring me flesh and bring me wine,
Bring me pine logs hither;
Thou and I will see him dine,
When we bear him thither."
Page and monarch forth they went,
Through the rude wind's wild lament,
And the bitter weather.
"Sir, the night is darker now,
And the wind blows stronger;
Falls my heart, I know not how,
I can go no longer."
"Mark my footsteps, good my page;
Tread thou in them boldly;
Thou shalt find the winter's rage
Freeze thy blood less coldly."

Oh, you'd better not pout,
Better not shout,
Better not cry,
I'm telling you why,
Santa Claus is coming to town.
He's making a list,
Checking it twice,
Going to find out
Who's naughty or nice,
Santa Claus is coming to town.

He knows if you're awake,
He knows if you've been bad or good,
So be good—for goodness sake!
Oh, you'd better watch out,

The horse was lean and lank,
Misfortune seem'd his lot,
He got into a drifted bank,
And then we got upsot!
Now the ground is white,
Go it while you're young;
Take the girls tonight
And sing this sleighing song;
Just get a bobtail'd nag,
Two-forty for his speed,
Then hitch him to an open sleigh
And crack! you'll take the lead.
Good King Wenceslas
Good King Wenceslas looked out
On the Feast of Stephen,
When the snow lay round about,
Deep and crisp and even;
Brightly shone the moon that night,
Tho' the frost was cruel,
When a poor man came in sight,
Gath'ring winter fuel.
"Hither, page and stand by me,
If you know'st it, telling,
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what his dwelling?"
"Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain;
Right against the forest fence,
By St. Agnes' fountain."
"Bring me flesh and bring me wine,
Bring me pine logs hither;
Thou and I will see him dine,
When we bear him thither."
Page and monarch forth they went,
Through the rude wind's wild lament,
And the bitter weather.
"Sir, the night is darker now,
And the wind blows stronger;
Falls my heart, I know not how,
I can go no longer."
"Mark my footsteps, good my page;
Tread thou in them boldly;
Thou shalt find the winter's rage
Freeze thy blood less coldly."

Here We Come A-Wassailing
Here we come a-wassailing among the leaves so green;
Here we come a-wandering, so fair to be seen.
Refrain
Love and joy come to you and to you
Our wassail, too,
And God bless you and send you a
Happy New Year!
We are not daily beggars that beg from door to door;
But we are neighbor's children whom you have seen before.
We have little purses made of matching leather skin;
We want a little sixpence to line it.
Well within.
God bless the master of this house,
likewise the mistress, too!
And all the little children that round the table go.

Santa Claus Is Coming To Town
Oh, you'd better not pout,
Better not shout,
Better not cry,
I'm telling you why,
Santa Claus is coming to town.
He's making a list,
Checking it twice,
Going to find out
Who's naughty or nice,
Santa Claus is coming to town.
He sees you when you're sleeping,
He knows if you're awake,
He knows if you've been bad or good,
So be good—for goodness sake!
Oh, you'd better watch out,
Better not pout,
Better not cry,
I'm telling you why,
Santa Claus is coming to town.

White Christmas
I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
Just like the ones I used to know
Where the trees are all glistening
And children listen to hear sleigh bells in the snow.
I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
With every Christmas card I write
"May your days be merry and bright
And may all your Christmases be white."
Jingle Bells
Dashing thro' the snow,
In a one-horse open sleigh;
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way;
Bells on bobtail ring,
Making spirits bright;
What fun it is to ride and sing a sleighing song tonight!
Chorus:
Jingle bells, jingle bells,
Jingle all the way!
Oh, what fun it is to ride,
In a one-horse open sleigh!
A day or two ago,
I thought I'd take a ride;
And soon Miss Fannie Bright was seated by my side;
The horse was lean and lank,
Misfortune seem'd his lot,
He got into a drifted bank,
And then we got upsot!
Now the ground is white,
Go it while you're young;
Take the girls tonight
And sing this sleighing song;

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Canada's football color commentators should be sent to the United States for a full course of study on how to work a football game.

This past season western football fans had to suffer again through the ineptness of Frankie Anderson. Then, Saturday, Dan Kelly of Ottawa performed like a real nothing as he gave play-by-play announcer Don Whitman, one of the best in Canada today, no help whatsoever.

A poor color man holds back the work of the play-by-play man. Take the case of the Brad Keene-Frankie Anderson combination. Keene calls a good game, but is given no help by Anderson. It can be likened to the horrible fate bestowed on western football viewers when Al Shaver, excellent in the calling department, suffered with Calgary's Henry Vining.

Bias showed up very noticeably in the comments made by Kelly during the Grey Cup game. Giving credit to the B.C. Lions' healthy effectiveness was like pulling hen's teeth.

He topped his afternoon's work off with a comment early in the third quarter. B.C. was leading 20-1 when Hamilton's Johnny Counts got away on a beautifully executed lateral pass for a major score.

"It's a brand new ball game!" shouted Mr. Kelly. What brand new ball game?

The Lions went on to score another 14 points. Only when the game was in the bag did they let down visibly and allow the Tiacs to come to life on the scoreboard. Even then the credit is due solely to the brilliance of Bernie Faloney, one of the best quarterbacks in the game today.

I believe the color men forget that viewers know something about the game. Fans hate to be talked down to and dislike slanted comments when the cameras show something other than described.

Kelly did not do himself or the coverage of the game any credit. A color man, like a play-by-play commentator, should be impartial. He should give out information which is not available to the viewer and, at times, draw attention to certain facets of the game.

Frankie Anderson knows his football but doesn't have the knack of bringing it across to his viewers.

There were nights at the closed-circuit TV games in the Royal Theatre when you'd have thought the 1,400 fans were watching a Laurel and Hardy comedy rather than Anderson's attempts at describing what had taken place.

ABC-TV's coverage of the Grey Cup game was by far the superior of the two telecasts Saturday. Curly Gowdy and Paul Christman were crisp, unbiased and, above all, knowledgeable, even though they are Americans. In fact, it was as if two different ball games were being played between the Hamilton Tiacs and B.C. Lions that day.

Another credit goes to them too for effective use of the isolated tracking camera. It singled out performances and thus gave more body to the over-all job.

CURIOSITY WINS PRIZE FOR MACAULAY STUDENT

MARLENE BRAATEN
... Encyclopedia.

Reading is a favorite pastime of nine-year-old Marlene Braaten, 819 Dunsmuir, who has won a set of the World Book Encyclopedia for a question submitted to the Ask Andy feature in the Times.

She reads all sorts of books but prefers adventure and fairy stories. She is a regular reader of the Times and a subscriber to a book club.

She thought of sending a question to Andy after reading a bird book which also dealt with the life history of bats. But there wasn't enough information to satisfy her curiosity.

The question which was uppermost in her mind was whether bats build their nests like other birds. The answer is on this page. She was thrilled to win the encyclopedia.

"It will help me a great deal in my school work, especially social studies," she said. "It's a nice Christmas present."

A Grade 4 pupil at Macaulay School, Marlene last year did well in her exams despite an illness which kept her away from classes for 40 days. She got As and Bs on her report card.

She is fond of art and likes music, and is looking forward to taking piano lessons early next year.

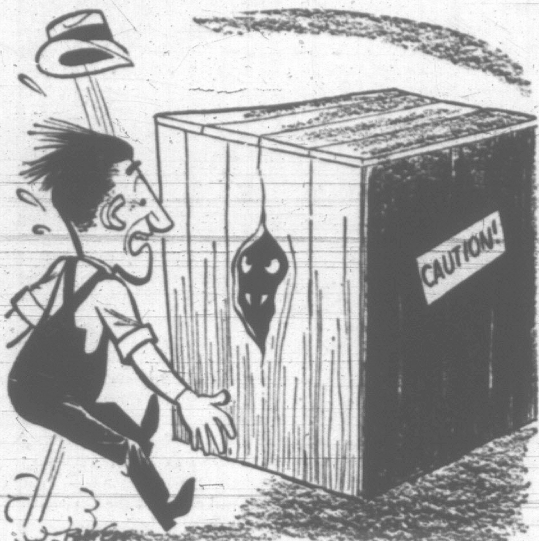

Her big ambition is to become a school teacher.

One of her hobbies is embroidery work. She also skates.

Marlene has one younger sister and two brothers, who were as pleased as she was to see her win the prize.

PET POINTS

By Dr. J. R. Emas

Is There An Animal Called A Civet?

Yes, and a pretty rare one. The civet as a carnivorous, cat-like animal that is classified between the cat and racoon families.

CLINIC: Q. Do you have any idea about costs for burying a dog in an animal cemetery?

A. Costs vary from cemetery to cemetery. However, as a rough guide, here are costs of one animal cemetery in my area. Complete burial ranges from $48 to $150 for a small dog to $80 to $200 for a large one. Caskets are extra and range in price from $25 for a simple casket to $175 for a plush mahogany one.

CLINIC: Q. What is the purpose of a rattlesnake's rattle?

A. It frightens potential enemies away. It's also a warning that you're looking for trouble if you come any closer.

CLINIC: Q. What's the latest reading on dog popularity in North America?

A. The poodle still rates number one in popularity. Runners up are the German shepherd and beagle, in that order.

CLINIC: Q. We just bought a parakeet and wonder if we got a bad one. He seems drowsy and fearful. If we approach the cage he gets frenzied. What do you suggest?

A. This is quite normal. Most parakeets require a little time to adjust to new surroundings. At the pet shop he was surrounded by other parakeets for companions. Suddenly, he's alone in new surroundings. He'll soon adjust. Don't approach his cage too closely, and remember to speak to him in a soft, gentle, reassuring voice. After a week or so, he should feel safe and completely at home.

CLINIC: Q. Some time ago you referred to a saw-scale snake that frequents Africa and India. You said that it's the world's most dangerous snake. I never heard of it. How did it get its unusual name?

A. The name comes from serrated scales on the snake. When aroused or attacking, the saw-scale snake causes the scales to rub together. This produces a rasping noise which helps further to frighten the victim.

CLINIC: Q. What's the latest reading on dog popularity in North America?

A. The poodle still rates number one in popularity. Runners up are the German shepherd and beagle, in that order.

CLINIC: Q. We just bought a parakeet and wonder if we got a bad one. He seems drowsy and fearful. If we approach the cage he gets frenzied. What do you suggest?

A. This is quite normal. Most parakeets require a little time to adjust to new surroundings. At the pet shop he was surrounded by other parakeets for companions. Suddenly, he's alone in new surroundings. He'll soon adjust. Don't approach his cage too closely, and remember to speak to him in a soft, gentle, reassuring voice. After a week or so, he should feel safe and completely at home.

CLINIC: Q. Some time ago you referred to a saw-scale snake that frequents Africa and India. You said that it's the world's most dangerous snake. I never heard of it. How did it get its unusual name?

A. The name comes from serrated scales on the snake. When aroused or attacking, the saw-scale snake causes the scales to rub together. This produces a rasping noise which helps further to frighten the victim.

If there's something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by children and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and at the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Marlene Braaten, age 9, of Victoria, B.C., for her question:

Do bats build nests like birds?

The little brown bat comes out in the dim dusk of evening, soon after sundown. She zooms and darts through the summery twilight, flapping her velvety wings. The first time you saw her, maybe you mistook her for a bird. On the wing, the little brown bat looks like a bird and flies like a bird. Naturally, you expect her to build a bird nest and lay a brood of eggs.

We share our lovely world with many different bats. Some of the bats that live in the warm tropics are whoopers. But most of our own bats are no bigger than the dainty song birds. On a summer evening, when a troupe of little brown bats comes out to feed, they look for all the world like a fast-flying flock of brown birds. But bats are not related to the birds at all.

True, they flap their wings and fly like birds. Swooping and swerving through the air, they are better fliers than many birds. They love to fly with mouths open through a flock of mosquitoes, catching their food on the wing. And so do the whippoorwill and other insect-eating birds. But the bat's open mouth is full of sharp teeth, and no bird in the world has a tooth in its mouth—not one.

The bat is a mammal, a relative of all the furry fellows we know better than all the other animals of the world. Lassie and Miss Puss are mammals. So are horses and cattle. Monkeys and mice, rats and pigs, bunnies and bears also are mammal animals. All the mammals breathe air, even the seals and whales that live in the sea. They are warm-blooded creatures, and most of them wear thick coats of fur. Birds are warm-blooded air-breathers, but they have coats of feathers.

Feed on Milk

Every bird is hatched from a crisp-shelled egg. Most parent birds build a soft nest to cradle their precious eggs and sit on them, covering them with their downy feathers until the birds hatch. But mammal babies are born alive and fed on mother's milk. Birds find food and some partly digest it for their babies. But no bird can feed her babies mother's milk.

Baby bats are born in dark caves or hollow trees. One, two or three babies arrive in early summer, soon after mama awakes from her long winter sleep. The tiny infants are blind and helpless, and their only cradle is in a crevice or rocky ledge. But mama is there, cuddling them close in her warm furry coat and feeding them mother's milk. For two weeks she never leaves them. When she flies outside to find her food, she may take the youngsters along, clinging tightly to her furry coat.

Our little brown bat has no need to build a nest for her precious babies. They are safe inside her dark cave or hidden in a crevice inside a sturdy tree. They can do without food of their own for two weeks. Then they are half-grown, big enough to be left alone for a short while or to ride along with mama while she flies through the evening air. In another week, the young bats are ready to take flying lessons and learn to find their food.

CPA Adds More Seats

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian Pacific Airlines announced Sunday it will add more seats to its DC-6Bs in an effort to avoid fare increases needed to offset a $1,000,000 loss on flights to interior and northern B.C. points this year.

'Fight Off the Seekers of Our Green Gold'

By TERRY IZZARD

There's gold in B.C.'s hills. Gold for the taking. Lush green gold that in years to come will be worth more than all the money in today's bank vaults. Already a 20th century gold rush is on, with prospectors staking their claims, to untold riches. And it's a crying shame, according to Victoria Daily Times editor Brian Tobin. The gold mine he spoke of Monday are the trees and parklands in B.C.'s own backyard. He told Victoria Gyro Club:

"I think the people of the 21st century will admire and thank the people of the 20th century more for what they have left them in the parks than for what they have left them in the bank vaults." Calling for increased parklands in the province, he said: "at the last legislature we heard threats that our parks would be invaded for the money they might produce—that logging and mining were proper activities for parklands which we had thought were to be preserved for our pleasure and the pleasure of generations yet to come. I cannot help but think that such policies would be very short-sighted, damaging and callous. "It would be very hard to explain such folly to our posterity a hundred years from now—or even at a time much less distant than that." He asked: "Why chop up the living room furniture for fuel when we still have an excellent supply of coal and wood in the basement?" Parks, he said, were no longer a frill to our living, but a necessity. "While many other things could be replaced by science it would not be possible to do this with streams, mountains, valleys and the animals which went with them. And it was unlikely that forests of centuries-old trees cut down today would ever be replaced.

ISLAND DIGEST

Businessmen Protest New Highway Islands

STUPICH "badly handled."

DUNCAN—Businessmen whose Duncan premises are adjacent to the Trans-Canada Highway are worried.

The highways department has detailed plans for curbs, gutters and raised islands. The businessmen feel the islands may block access to their stores.

A number of them voiced their concern to city council Monday night.

Ald. James Saunders said installation of the islands would mean stores only getting automobile customers from one side of the highway.

Ald. Hamish Mutter said: "This will just stop drivers breaking the law because at present they cross a double solid line."

CALL MEETING

Council agreed with Mayor Jack Dobson to call a meeting of all concerned.

Mayor Dobson said the highways department was anxious to work out a compromise solution.

Council also decided: To start the second stage of bringing in a supplementary well water supply.

They awarded an $8,750 contract to Burak Construction Ltd., Duncan, to build a pump-house.

Awarding of the contract is subject to city engineer's approval.

The well has been drilled at the bottom of McKinstry Street, less than half-a-mile from the river. The present city supply is taken from the river higher upstream.

To give approval to the third major apartment project undertaken in Duncan this year.

Queen Scout Badge Given Chemainus Boy

CHEMAINUS—Frank Ludwig of the First Chemainus Boy Scout troop was presented his Queen Scout badge by District Commissioner William Giles at the weekend.

At the same meeting, Gordon Cameron, of Crofton, was elected president of the district association for 1965.

Other officers elected were: Charles Metherell, secretary; Ed McNaught, treasurer; Frank Ludwig Sr. and William Esley, councillors.

William Giles was recommended to the regional board as district commissioner.

It was reported there are now 138 cubs and 65 scouts in the district.

JUBENVILLE RE-ELECTED

DUNCAN—Weldon Jubenville has been re-elected president of Duncan IWA, local 1-89.

He had a majority of 506 over rival Ernest Boulet.

In addition, his entire slate of candidates was returned.

SCHOOL BOARD APATHY 'REALLY REGRETTABLE'

DUNCAN—Mayor Jack Dobson said Monday it was "really regrettable" that people did not come forward to serve as school board trustees.

He was commenting on the fact no one has been nominated to take the place of Mrs. Isabel Tarlton, city trustee who is retiring at the end of the year.

The city is to send Mrs. Tarlton a letter thanking her for her 10 years of good and faithful service on the school board.

Her place will be filled by ministerial appointment.

New Meeting Sought On School Walkout

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—The chairman of Alberni District School Board said Monday night the board will seek a new meeting with 12 parents who have kept their children out of school in a dispute over school bus service.

Chairman James MacFie announced plans for the talks following a board meeting.

The parents, in Arrowsmith Heights subdivision east of here, have demanded bus service for their 12 children on grounds the students must walk along an unlit, forested road to reach the school.

The trustees have twice turned down the request but last week senior education department officials supported the parents' stand.

Club Ready to Build Housing for Elderly

GANGES—A survey is being conducted by the Lions Club on Salt Spring Island to see if there is a need for low-rental housing for elderly people.

If the answer is "Yes" the club is ready to build a pioneer village at Ganges.

The club is co-operating with the provincial government and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation in planning the project.

VICTORIA HELP

Officials have already been in touch with Victoria Kiwanis Club which runs Kiwanis Village, a similar project in the city.

Meanwhile, principal A. W. Robinson of Calgary Elementary School, where 25 of the children are enrolled, has sent the parents a form letter advising them he must notify the family allowance division of the federal health department of the children's absence.

Mr. Robinson said family allowances are payable only for eligible children who meet all legal requirements of each province. In B.C. a requirement is that children between seven and 15 years of age attend school if they are physically able.

The principal said the children are staying away for reasons "not normally acceptable" to the health authorities.

Hearings Called On North Saanich Planning Project

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said Monday he will convene three sessions of a public hearing on the proposed North-Saanich development plan Dec. 17 and 18.

The minister himself will act as chairman of the hearing. First session will be held in the Legislative Buildings during the afternoon.

Night meetings will be held both days in the North Saanich area with places to be announced later.

Copies of the plan, prepared last year by the Capital Region Planning Board at the request of the North Saanich Advisory Planning Board, were mailed two months ago to all North Saanich households.

Basically the plan calls for retention of the central core of the peninsula as a rural area—by proposing lot sizes be kept at a minimum of two acres. It also suggests that city lot subdivisions be restricted to areas near Sidney.

Two-acre subdivision prevents "urban sprawl" or that they are preferable to half-acre lots that are serviced.

"Water sewer and drainage facilities are adequately assured," in the pending zoning applications.

"The principle of putting land to its highest economic use has been thought through."

Or "the problem of placing public zoning controls . . . on privately held lands has been met with suggestions for the public compensation of the private land holders."

Mr. Campbell also made the points that there is no administrative machinery for enforcing land use controls in North Saanich at present and that many owners can realize a return on their land only by selling it for subdivision.

CONFLICT

The plan conflicts with a proposed 400-house subdivision near John Dean Park and another potential large subdivision north of the airport. A hearing has been held on the first subdivision application but no decision has been made yet by the department.

Mr. Campbell, in announcing the new hearing, said it was time to consider the master plan itself.

"Apart from several pending zoning applications and the consideration that planning for the capital region in bits and pieces is less than desirable, the proposed North Saanich plan is receiving widespread public discussion," he said.

However, he said, the views being expressed do not pinpoint solutions clearly enough to provide an intelligent basis for decisions.

He said so far he has seen "a lack of evidence" that:

Cambodian Gunboats Backing Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP)—The defence ministry charged today that Cambodian troops and gunboats supported Viet Cong guerrillas in two attacks on South Vietnamese units near the Cambodian border Monday.

A patrol moving within 100 yards of the border in Chau Doc province was hit by Communist guerrillas supported by 100 Cambodian soldiers, the ministry charged.

Mortar fire hit a government patrol from across the border, killing three soldiers and wounding one, the ministry said. The Viet Cong and Cambodians withdrew after 20 minutes when Vietnamese reinforcements arrived, the ministry added.

Two hours later four Cambodian patrol boats moved up a canal and blasted an outpost in the area, killing one Vietnamese soldier, the ministry said.

On the political front, a source close to South Viet Nam's Buddhist leadership said Buddhists might turn again to suicide by fire in their campaign to overthrow Premier Tran Van Huong's government.

Huong has crushed Buddhist demonstrations against his government with force, and a number of devout Buddhists are disgusted with the political machinations of their leaders.

China broadcast today it would fight in the event of "U.S. imperialist aggression" against Communist North Viet Nam. It was believed the first time the Chinese have used the word "fight" in referring to talk of American bombing of targets in North Viet Nam.

LBJ Orders Urgent Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today instructed Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor to "consult urgently" with the South Vietnamese government concerning measures to improve the situation there "in all its aspects."

A statement announcing this was issued by the White House after a 2½-hour meeting on the Viet Nam problem involving the president, Taylor and top administration officials.

Whale Love Match Fails As Titch Breathes Last

MALTON, England (AP)—Titch, the first whale to fly the Atlantic, has died.

"We can't really say what caused her death," said Zoo Superintendent Ian Gibb, "but it seems as if it may have been a virus she had before she flew from Canada."

The seven-foot-long, 135-pound baby beluga whale, was originally abandoned by its mother on the banks of the St. Lawrence river in Canada. Fishermen discovered the young whale and turned it over to the Quebec Zoo.

The Flamingo Zoo, near here heard about the abandoned whale and asked for it. Packed in ice and foam rubber, Titch was flown from Canada to Britain by an Air France jet early last month.

Two weeks ago the whale began ill.

During the illness, she was fed a special diet of oysters and mussels.

Zoo officials here had planned to introduce Titch to Flipper, the sole occupant of the zoo's whale tank.

Titch never met Flipper, however. She was too ill.

SPACE RACE

Russian Mars Shot Falts

(Times News Services)

The Russians were back in the race to Mars with a new deep-space probe today but it appeared to be a partial failure.

Its power supply was working at only half-strength.

U.S. spacecraft Mariner IV sped at 7,226 miles an hour today toward Mars — two days ahead of the Russian rival in history's first interplanetary race.

Mariner is due on the outskirts of Mars July 14. Somewhere behind it is the Zond II craft the Russians fired Monday.

Tass news agency said data showed Zond had only half its expected power supply.

There was no information immediately available on whether Zond had sufficient reserves to carry on with its program.

Tass also said Zond was close to its planned course but it did not appear to be directed at the planet Mars itself.

At noon EST Monday Zond, launched two days behind Mariner IV, was 25,000 miles from earth above a point 156 degrees, nine minutes east and 12 degrees, 50 minutes north, Tass said.

Zond appeared to have started its journey aboard a multi-stage rocket which placed a heavy satellite in an intermediate orbit around the earth. Tass said a "cosmic rocket" was then launched from the satellite, accelerating the automatic spacecraft to the speed necessary

TESTS SYSTEMS

It was not immediately known whether the Russians would make an attempt to "lock" Zond on a star. The U.S. probe was "locked" Monday on Canopus for guidance.

Tass said Zond was equipped with instruments for transmitting information back to earth.

Talks Avert UN Showdown

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations announced today agreement had been reached on a formula to avert a U.S.-Soviet showdown in the General Assembly to peace-keeping assessments.

The announcement came a few minutes after the 112-country assembly had been scheduled to open its 19th session.

It was agreed that the assembly would transact only non-controversial business at the initial meeting. This would include the election of a new president and admission of three new members.

The agreement left hanging what would be done eventually about action to suspend Soviet voting rights in accordance with UN charter provisions dealing with back debts.

Secretary-General U Thant had achieved agreement after

Father Charged; Fire Kills 7

BALTIMORE (AP)—Seven brothers and sisters died today in a fire which destroyed their home.

Police arrested the father, Kenneth Smith, 38, a truck driver, at a local bar and obtained a warrant charging him with arson.

Police said they found a gasoline can in the house and were told by a 15-year-old survivor that he had been pushed back into the burning house as he tried to escape. The boy escaped through another exit.

The mother and four other children survived.

Police said they were told by a neighbor of being awakened by the sound of breaking glass. The neighbor said he saw the fire and a man standing in front of the house, watching. Officers quoted the neighbor as saying the man just stood there as the children screamed: "Our house is on fire."

Fall Start Possible Next Year

By AB KENT

Times City Hall Reporter

Re-routing a six-block section of the city's proposed $1 million six-lane highway into downtown Victoria was recommended to council today as a 1965 project.

The concept was approved by urban renewal committee in consultation with traffic committee and is based on preliminary drawings prepared by the engineering department.

Major effects of the proposal would be to:

- Eliminate a traffic bottleneck at Rose and Hillside.

- Make an almost "straight through" route between Rose Street extension at Hillside, and Blanshard at Chatham.

- Eliminate the one-way stretch now running between Bay and Queens, allowing this and the portion between Bay and Hillside to handle secondary traffic.

- Permit Blanshard between Chatham and Hillside to handle northbound traffic intending to turn east.

- Eliminate an "island" of residential area between what was to be one-way sections of the artery between Queens and Hillside—area that is earmarked for urban renewal.

- Provide for a clean division between commercial development along Douglas Street and residential area to the east.

- Permit beautification of a 17-foot divider strip the full length of the route between Tolmie and Pandora.

- Eliminate the necessity of cutting through Greater Victoria School Board property at Rose and Hillside.

COST $800,000

Current estimated cost is over $800,000, or about $53,000 more than the course proposed. The committee agreed this new plan would provide more lasting benefits.

Under capital budget and urban renewal financing about $1,000,000 is available to pay for the route, city manager Dennis Young told the Committee.

FALL START

He said with policy established now, planning can proceed, and physical work could begin next fall.

The full six lanes need not be developed immediately, but a 110-foot right of way would be secured anyway to allow for pressure of future traffic.

It is contemplated that overpasses would be built at Finlayson and Tolmie, depending on the future development of the route in Saanich.

"Regardless of what the regional traffic plan (being prepared by the provincial government) indicates, our experience shows that we need this improved highway," Mr. Young said.

WEST WAS WARNED today by allied supreme commander Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, it would be "the height of folly" to relax its military effort as a result of "complacency." Speaking before the Western European Union in Paris, Lemnitzer said it is "disturbing" that some Atlantic alliance members are failing to meet their force goals. He was presumed to be speaking about Britain's under-strength Rhine army.

Mercenaries Rescue 160 More Hostages

LEOPOLDVILLE—White mercenaries have rescued from 155 to 160 rebel-held hostages in a cotton-growing region about 180 miles north of Stanleyville, a Belgian embassy spokesman said today. Most of them were Belgians.

The report came as rebels fought back in Stanleyville, the fallen insurgent capital seized a week ago. The airport was closed and most of the city was reported in rebel hands.

The hostages were freed at Dindila and Bambili in the northeastern Congo. Reports said fleeing rebels had taken two hostages northward. Bambili and Dindila are in a cotton-growing region about 110 miles northeast of Buta, the mercenaries' operational base.

ABOUT 230 STILL HELD

The embassy spokesman said the rescue reduced the number of Belgians still trapped by rebels to about 230, although previous reports had said 500 to 1,000 whites remained after the Belgian paratrooper rescue mission ended last week.

Most of those still held as hostages were said to be Belgians and were believed taken to Watasa, a town near the Sudanese border. About 80 other Belgians are scattered in isolated settlements, the official said.

The Canadian embassy in Leopoldville has listed eight Canadians still unaccounted for in the Congo.

Other messages reaching Leopoldville spoke of the deterioration of the situation at Kindu, a rebel centre captured by the mercenaries at the beginning of their drive on Stanleyville.

CHRISTMAS DAY is just another day in these children's struggle to survive.

Computer May Predict Buying Trends
VANCOUVER (CP)—Electronic computers may someday be able to tell a businessman how certain kinds of advertising will affect sales, says William H. Erskine, Canadian president of J. Walter Thompson Co., world's biggest ad agency.

"We want to be able to tell the advertiser, 'If you run this amount of advertising in this type of publication you will get so many sales'."

He says his and three other American agencies are experimenting with computers.

We are being exposed to the annual fuss and fret over war toys, a circumstance which won't prevent fathers from buying and small boys from playing, with these simulated tools of destruction.

I don't think it should, either; and not even the current spectacle of Mike Pearson beating Canada's sword into a plowshare or something has caused me to alter my view. In fact, were I of an age to indulge such yearnings, I would probably be framing for Santa, about now, a note along these lines:

"I have been a good boy all year, and please bring me a jungle survival kit and a machine gun and a 50-shot slide action repeating air rifle."

Not that I'd have a cat-in-the-hat chance of getting the airgun. My parents had too much sense.

But, being sensible, they didn't leap to the half-baked conclusion that the kid who hollers "Bang! You're dead!" is going to grow up with an itch for blood-letting.

He won't, unless he's rendered psychotic by other factors which haven't a thing to do with play-weapons.

This isn't to imply that some of the more artful and elaborate war toys now chilling the ban-al brigade's collective spine don't rate criticism.

For one thing, I don't feel they leave enough to the male child's ingenuity and imagination.

Perhaps this explains why his interest in them tends to evaporate quickly, particularly when he realizes that the high-floated TV advertising which heralded them was for the most part humbug.

Their usual fate, if they survive the hands of kids who regard toys as expendable, is to languish forgotten in some already-bulging storage space after the novelty wears off.

I will not, however, condemn them as foreshadowers of some future war.

Like the bow, the popgun, the cap pistol, they cater to a male affinity for weapons so instinctual that we court trouble when we attempt to squish it.

This fact doesn't deter numbers of well-intentioned but misguided folk from their efforts to abolish anything that remotely resembles a shooting iron.

With a fine, free disregard for consequences, these would outlaw hunting, disarm the hunter, and have the race forget that villainous saltpetre was ever invented.

Yearly, their plot thickens; its goal a total disarmament. I see it as one facet of a conspiracy aimed at purging the last trace of aggressive tendency from man's nature.

What the weapon-haters choose to overlook, or fail utterly to understand, is that man shorn of aggressive instincts has no chance of achieving a better world.

Like the bull Ferdinand in the pleasant little fantasy, he would be content to sit and sniff the blossoms. He'd get nothing done. He and his species would perish from sheer inertia.

It seems to me, in fact, that the demand for men who haven't had their masculinity strangled in apron strings exceeds our present supply.

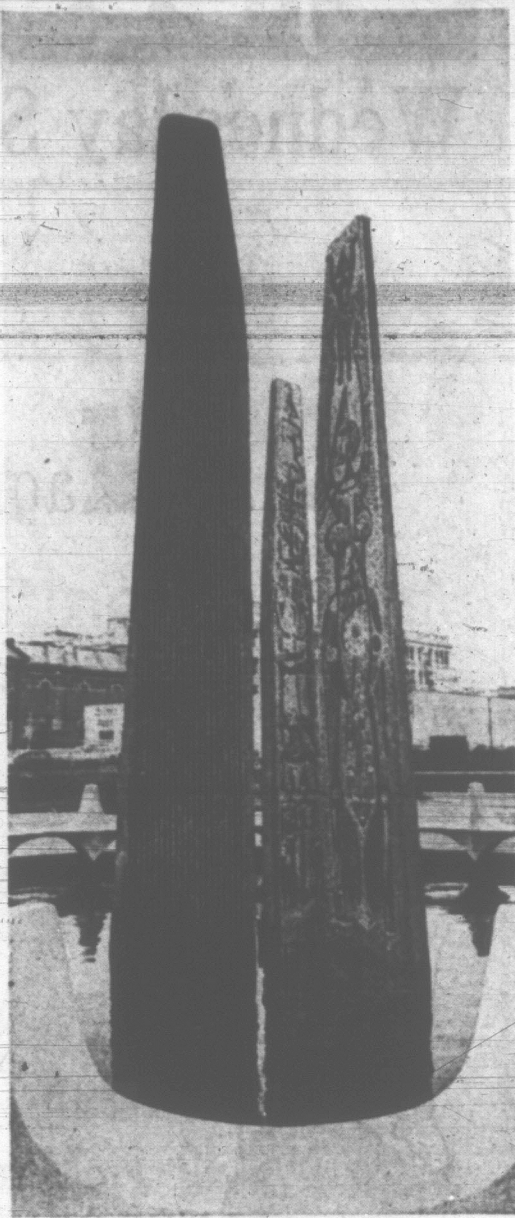

We could use a few in education, and in the church. We need more of them in the newspaper business; and when we're lucky enough to find one with aptitude for our craft, we bring him along speedily as may-be.

In politics, this need is very keen. I grow weary of elected representatives whose bleat is, "I am here to carry out the will of the people," when what we hunger for is democratic leadership that offers fit targets for our will.

Let the women agitate against play-weapons if they must.

But I hope a father here and another there will continue to remember that he once had a lot of harmless fun with things that go bang, and give his own small son a chance to do likewise.

Even if they drum him out of the PTA for it!

A Rugged Yet Sophisticated Symbol

By AB KENT

A cascading fountain and triple monolith sparkling under colored lights becomes the new symbol of Victoria today as switches are flicked in Victoria Centennial Square.

City and municipal representatives were to gather at 5:30 p.m. for formal dedication of the fountain—focal point of the square and gift to the city from Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Although the 40-foot pond, its curvilinear sculptured concrete ring and monoliths themselves are striking, it is the mosaic in Italian glass on three concave faces of the concrete uprights that is likely to hold the attention.

This artistry was conceived by provincial public works department employee Jack Wilkinson to depict three fundamental phases in "every man's" life.

It is described by Roderick Clack, special projects consultant and designer of the fountain and square, as a totemic representation of environment.

Mr. Wilkinson said the first column is youth, or growth, incorporating youthful figures and a school shield—(drawn from University of Victoria).

The second column depicts creation or procreation, with a symbolized mother and fetus-child forms.

Third panel—tallest of the three—represents morality or man's struggle against evil.

In this mosaic are a symbolized armored figure and slain dragon, crowned by a sunburst, symbolizing the deity.

Application of the shimmering, golden mosaic tiles, with other colors kept to a minimum, combines bas relief and intaglio relief in a manner unique to Victoria.

Their glistening smoothness

contrasts with the rippling, roughened concrete aggregate on the convex face of each monolith.

Each column is set individually in a river stone base lying just beneath the surface of the pond.

Into the base are set the colored floodlights that will shine upward onto the mosaic and illuminate the fountain jets with amber glow.

Mr. Clack said the illumination silhouettes the sculptured ring and lends strong visual impact at the centre of the square.

"This is not a timid fountain design. It is rugged, yet its sophisticated strength is perhaps indicative of that transitory stage of community growth into maturity now being experienced and commemorated," Mr. Clack said.

Hearing Date Set on Dec. 21 For Hankinson

Former city car dealer George K. Hankinson was remanded again to Dec. 21 when he appeared in city police court today.

Hankinson is charged with conferring unlawful benefits on G. E. P. Jones, suspended B.C. government purchasing commissioner.

Hankinson this morning was represented by J. Alan Baker.

At the Dec. 21 appearance, a date will be set for a preliminary hearing into the charge.

Jones has already been committed for trial on two charges of unlawfully accepting favors from Hankinson.

CAR DEALS

Hankinson is charged with conferring a benefit of $1,571 on Jones in the purchase of a car last year, and of selling him another car early this year at less than cost.

Vancouver criminal lawyer Hugh McGivern, QC, is slated to defend Jones when his trial opens Dec. 10 in County Court here.

T. P. O'Grady, of Victoria, who represented Mr. Jones at the preliminary hearing, said he was still retained as solicitor for Mr. Jones but not as a barrister at the trial.

He made the explanation to clear up a misunderstanding when it was reported he would not appear at the trial and that several lawyers had been approached but declined for various reasons.

"I have not ceased to act for Mr. Jones but there is a subtle distinction between solicitor and barrister and it is in the former capacity that I am engaged," said Mr. O'Grady.

FIRST IN 96 YEARS

Indian Chief Appointed To Board of Farm Group

For the first time in its 96 years, the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society—sponsors of the oldest fair west of the Great Lakes—has appointed an Indian to its board of directors.

Named to the board was Chief Ed. Underwood of the East Saanich reserve, at the society's annual meeting held at the Saanichton Fair Grounds' main hall Monday evening.

The meeting re-elected by acclamation retired farmer Albert Doney as president. It is his 15th term as head of the 157-member organization.

GEORGE LINDSAY
... "top administrator."

Vehicle Boss To Retire At Year-End

Motor vehicles superintendent George Lindsay will retire from government service Dec. 31, Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced today.

He will be succeeded by his deputy, Ray Hadfield.

Mr. Lindsay, who is 63, entered government service with the old B.C. Provincial Police after serving as a North Vancouver city policeman from 1930 to 1934.

After 11 years in the provincial force, he shifted to the motor vehicles branch in 1945 and worked up through various positions until he was appointed superintendent Oct. 1, 1952.

ANCHOR MAN

"George Lindsay has been an outstanding administrator and one of the anchor-men in the attorney-general's department," the announcement said.

Mr. Hadfield, who is 49, joined the branch in 1932 at the age of 17 when it was still a division of the provincial police.

Works Plan Revision Still Irks

Victoria Community Welfare Council's recent juvenile delinquency report will be cited by city council in renewed plea for a better winter works deal from the provincial government.

The city's public works committee today recommended inter-municipal committee endorse its stand that the original spirit of winter works assistance is being denied by the provincial government.

A revision of provincial standards for granting municipalities winter works aid states that only employees who have been on welfare for three months may qualify a project for the provincial share.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said: "We feel the intent of winter works aid was not only for those on welfare, but to relieve those recently unemployed and about to go on welfare."

The committee recommended endorsement of a Union of B.C. Municipalities' policy on winter works, in which UBCM president Peter Jenewein reported a discussion with Premier Bennett.

Gist of the conversation was that the province never intended winter works aid for municipalities and that no encouragement was given UBCM's protests.

PRESSURE

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell said the city should "bring more pressure on the government. There are many on welfare who are unemployable, but this shouldn't work a hardship on those who are trying to get a job."

He said much of the juvenile delinquency is attributable to unemployment.

"The problem is as simple as this: youths of 17-22 who haven't the privilege of going to university are out of work, can't get a job and are therefore a problem to society."

WHY WAIT?

"Do they have to be on welfare before we recognize them, or do we wait until they do something against society and we put them in jail?" Ald. Edgell asked.

Ald. A. W. Toone suggested the government "live up to spirit of the winter works incentive program." Living up to the new provincial policy only increases the hard core of unemployment, he said.

The three-month provision is ridiculous, Ald. Edgell pointed out. For persons just out of a job and going on welfare to wait that long means winter is over.

Broken Leg, Arm Suffered In Hit-Run

City police today were still seeking the driver of a car that was in collision with a pedestrian on Cook Street Monday night.

The pedestrian, Mrs. Lillian Holmes, 63, of 1009 Cook Street, was in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today.

She suffered arm and leg fractures.

City police found her lying in the roadway about 15 feet north of a crosswalk at Cook and Rockland.

An eyewitness told police Mrs. Holmes was in the crosswalk and nearing the centre line when she was hit.

The car stopped briefly, then left, police were told.

The northbound car was described as a two-tone model, with the bottom half buff and the top light.

'Merry Wives' Subject Of Sunday Meeting

The Shakespeare Readers will read "The Merry Wives of Windsor" Sunday at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. B. I. McKay, 2126 Granite.

Topics of the Day

Bail was set at $500 for a young man charged with breaking and entering and theft at Newton Garden Apartments on Monday when he appeared in Saanich police court today.

Robert Peter Martynyszyn, 1731 Mortimore, was remanded to Thursday afternoon to say how he wishes to be tried.

Saanich police arrested him after a report of a break-in at one of the apartments at Newton Garden Apartments, 1702 Newton.

Martynyszyn told the court he is presently unemployed.

Police rerouted traffic on Sooke Road Monday afternoon when a pole carrying a 12,000 volt power line caught fire.

The fire was reported by the gateman at Royal Roads Canadian Services College. Hydro linemen attended and lowered the line across Highway 14.

Traffic was diverted for one and-a-half hours. Power supply in the area was halted briefly. The short circuit which caused the fire is believed to have started from a broken insulator.

A brief keel-laying ceremony was held at Victoria Machinery Depot Monday to start work on the $6,000,000 Queen of Prince Rupert government ferry that is to inaugurate service between Kelsey Bay and Prince Rupert by the summer of 1966.

Esquimalt council agreed Monday to erection of a "stop" sign at the junction of Clifton Terrace and Munro Street.

They made the move after receipt of a letter from a resident in the area complaining of the speed at which cars went through the junction.

The letter said the corner was blind and it was only by good luck there hadn't been any serious accidents.

Marjorie Louise Fielding, 18, Nanaimo, pleaded guilty in city police court Monday to vagrancy.

She was remanded to next Monday for presentation of a probation report before sentencing.

She was arrested in a downtown hotel lobby.

Second Fort Victoria Cubs and Scouts will hold a fall fair, Saturday, 7 to 9 p.m., in the Chester Street hall.

Speed limits have been cut to 20 miles an hour on about three miles of the Trans Canada Highway leading out of town.

The limit will remain at 20 from the Pat Bay Highway intersection to Thetis Lake until new white lines are painted on the road.

There are no lines on the road at present, because of reconstruction work.

Police departments say they have no idea when the lines will be replaced, but say the rainy weather won't help.

A sailor pleaded not guilty in city police court this morning to indecent assault.

Michael Gracewood, HMCS Fraser, was charged with assault on a 15-year-old girl on Nov. 5.

He was remanded to Dec. 21 for trial.

The Canadian National Railway Pensioners' Association will hold a social meeting, Friday at 2 p.m. in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street.

It said the goal of the launching was to test the spacecraft's systems in conditions of prolonged spaceflight and to accumulate practical experience. It did not say whether, like Mariner, Zond was carrying cameras.

The first Russian Mars shot was launched Nov. 1, 1962, but failed to keep its rendezvous with the red planet. However, in March, 1963, the Russians set a record for distance some 66,000,000 miles for two-way radio link when they communicated with the probe. It took 12 minutes for a reply to be received.

Six months after the launching it was announced that radio contact with the probe had been lost. At that time, the probe was about 122,000,000 miles from earth.

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said in Washington the new Russian probe and Mariner could conceivably follow the same type of trajectory. Mariner was launched from Cape Kennedy Saturday.

The first Russian Mars probe was called Mars I.

Zond I was launched eight months ago, apparently in the direction of Venus, but there was no evidence the first Zond probe was meant to make contact with the planet. A Russian scientist said it was meant to study radiation belts at high altitudes.

The Russians changed the course of Zond I by radio six weeks after launching, when it was about 8,000,000 miles from earth.

Mariner, its speed pre-set, is moving in a perfect position for the next crucial manoeuvre in its 350,000,000-mile flight: a mid-course manoeuvre to refine its trajectory. It probably will come later this week.

The manoeuvre may increase Mariner's speed slightly enough to cut a few hours on a 229-day journey.

Russian scientists, aware of Mariner's schedule, could rig Zond to pass it, if simple speed is their goal, laboratory experts said.

U.S. scientists were inclined to doubt that Russian scientists fired Zond to pass Mariner as a cold war gambit. The reasoning:

Father Charged; Fire Kills 7

BALTIMORE (AP) Seven brothers and sisters died today in a fire which destroyed their home.

Police arrested the father, Kennard Smith, 38, a truck driver, at a local bar and obtained a warrant charging him with arson.

Police said they found a gasoline can in the house and were told by a 15-year-old survivor that he had been pushed back into the burning house as he tried to escape. The boy escaped through another exit.

The mother and four other children survived.

Police said they were told by a neighbor of being awakened by the sound of breaking glass. The neighbor said he saw the fire and a man standing in front of the house, watching. Officers quoted the neighbor as saying the man just stood there as the children screamed: "Our house is on fire."

DUE TO BE ELECTED president of the United Nations General Assembly at today's session was Alex Quaison-Sackey, 40, of Ghana. He will be the youngest president in the history of the world organization.

Memorial Service Set for Missionary

A special memorial service will be held for Victoria missionary Muriel Harman, killed by Congo rebels last Wednesday.

The service will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 3 in the Church of Our Lord, Blanshard and Humboldt.

"The service will be for all who knew her, all who supported her work and all who wish to pay tribute to a wonderful woman," said Bishop D. A. G. Rankin of the reformed Episcopal church.

Miss Harman, a missionary, teacher and nurse in The Congo for more than 20 years, was born in Victoria and graduated from Royal Jubilee Hospital.

1. This is the optimum period because of the positions of earth and Mars for such a probe. Zond's following Mariner may be mere coincidence.

2. It takes up to two years to plan a flight like those now being flown by the two unmanned craft. Last-minute changes just aren't made.
